Workmen were frequently present at Roosevelt as they constructed the band and counselling wings.

Senior Kevin Murphy (standing) directs the discussion in the library as students organize a black-white relations meeting to further understanding between races.

Coach Al Comito and the team join the crowd in cheering as the reserves await their turn to play.

Senior Greg Dillavou, circulation manager of the yearbook, smiles as he sorts through the files.

Like snowflakes are we, each of us taking a form that is unlike that of any other. We are individuals. We find ourselves confronted with an infinite variety of means of expression, and from these we choose the ones that will best present us to the world. From these choices come the soul and image of every Roosevelt student.

We find expression in countless ways. We find it in activities that have been organized by others, or if we cannot find it there, we create our own.

We spend our Friday evenings at basketball games or folksinging with friends, going to a party or studying for a test. Our week days we give to classes, but also to throwing Frisbees on the lawn, standing by the window and relating experiences, or attending meetings and making plans for the future.

Drama, debate, journalism, athletics, music, art, service, student government, homemaking...all are areas of interest to which each of us may devote himself totally, or from which we may select a few to make up the total person.

Roosevelt students take advantage of lunch time to meet with friends over food in the student center.

The west campus provides an ideal place to enjoy the weather in the fall.

Not one of us is capable of becoming totally involved in every aspect of life at Roosevelt. We are human, and being human, we do not have the ability to be everywhere at the same time. We choose those means of expression that most suit our individual life styles, so that each of us is different in a great or small way from each other.

1971 brought the return of the pep assembly--the outpouring of school spirit by the screaming masses, and many have found this to fit into their chosen life styles. Others decided not to participate, and found new tolerance for their feelings in the optional attendance policy. In similar ways, the clubs at this school open their doors to new members, but do not force membership on those who do not wish to participate.

We begin to experience a philosophy of tolerance toward each other. We may not always agree with the beliefs of the people around us, and we may choose not to participate in their activities. Still, we accept them as they are and allow them to pursue their activities without us, in hopes that they will do the same for us.

There is an image that many people hold about Roosevelt students. Why should we feel forced to change ourselves to fit that image? We are not clay that must be pounded into a mold. We are people, and if our chosen images fit that one formed for us, that is how it will be. And when our images do not fit the mold, the mold is useless.

And so our time at Roosevelt flies by, while we pursue our own ways of life and help others to find theirs. And when one image loses its color, we find another and continue learning.

Seniors Tony Kingkade and Nels Johnson work hard in the chemistry room to finish an experiment.

Discussions and conversations take place along with the studying in Roosevelt's library during study halls.

Academics

All the years of our lives
Are the green leaves that wither and fall
When our winters draw near.
While yet it is spring
And we are young
Let us dance, and rejoice
In our youth.
But let us also work, prepare ourselves,
So when our leaves have fallen
We will not be altogether barren.

Jenifer L. Mercer

Pictures reveal many varied interests at Roosevelt

Mr. Don Prior, head football coach, makes a short speech after students excitedly cheered him onto the stage at a pep assembly.

The Spanish and French classes merrily sing Christmas Carols together the day before vacation begins.

Ferdie Suleeman, an exchange student from Indonesia, discovers the magazines in the Roosevelt library.

Mr. Robert Bagley, band director, emphatically directs the pep band at one of Roosevelt's basketball games.

Each autumn the Roosevelt custodians are faced with the task of clearing the leaves deposited on the ground under the large trees on the campus. Here the leaves are being burned in a fireplace on the front lawn under the careful supervision of the custodians.

This fall, workmen began building the new wing for the music department between the library and the industrial arts wing of the main building.

Junior Kristi Chambers pauses for a moment in the office before she hangs up the switchboard phone.

Administrative staff is vital at Roosevelt

Mr. Bruce Gardner, Principal

Mr. John Barrett, Vice-Principal

Mr. Jerald Curnutt, Advisor

The administrative staff plays a vital role in the shaping of our education. They must use their experienced judgment when considering such proposals as pass-fail grading, auditing, and the modification of class rank. However, fresh ideas are always welcome.

This year an advisor was added to the administrative staff to fill the vacancy left by Mrs. Velma Cross. Mr. Jerald Curnutt, the new advisor for both girls and boys, directs the student activity calendar and also must handle any discipline problems. Mr. Curnutt is well qualified to serve in this capacity as he has been a biology teacher and a counselor at the secondary level.

Members of the Des Moines Board of Education are Mrs. Kate Goldman, Dr. George G. Caudill, Merle F. Schlampp, Herrold V. Mann, Secretary, Mrs. Jack Spevak, President; Dr. Dwight M. Davis, Superintendent; Dr. Ora E. Niffenegger; Nolden Gentry; Dr. John E. McCaw.

Mr. Curnutt performs many duties as girls' and boys' advisor, including writing passes for students who are late to class.

TRHS Counseling Department increases in importance

Mrs. Seaver helps junior Shelly Gruber choose her second semester schedule from among the numerous course offerings. With less required subjects needed for graduation, the counselors are always busy helping students plan their courses to fit their needs.

The counselors have always had an important job at Roosevelt, but this year their department is beginning to acquire even more significance. With the relaxation of the number of required subjects needed for graduation, students are being bombarded by a frightening number of course offerings. The counselors are here to help students wade through the many different class offerings in order to pick which ones will meet their needs and desires.

In order to accomodate the ever increasing facilities of the Counseling Department, construction began this year on a new counseling wing. The new wing, which was included in the bond issue approved in November of 1969, is located between the library research room and the southeast wing of the main building. Along with the new counseling offices, an office for the registrar will be located in one corner of the addition. With the completion of the addition expected next fall, the Counseling Department will have the much needed space which it lacks desperately at this time.

Miss Beulah Newton, the new Pupil Services Coordinator, will also have her office in the new wing. Because Mr. Jerald Curnutt serves as an advisor for the entire student body, Miss Newton is available to any girls needing advice.

Students continue to be intrigued by math problems

Math students continued this year to be intrigued by the different math courses offered at Roosevelt. For those for whom the intrigue became a little too deep, a mathematics laboratory was available. When a student was falling behind or becoming confused he was given the opportunity to receive greater individual help and guidance in the lab.

Mr. Whitlatch returned to Roosevelt after a few year's absence.

Algebra, two levels of geometry, data processing, and college math were the main courses offered this year.

Attentive students listen as Mr. Anderson explains two ways to divide by a fraction.

Mr. Cummings flashes a bit of his humor, which has become a well-known part of the Roosevelt math system.

Science classes open different areas of investigation

The sciences are applicable working courses, students discovered, as they performed experiments in science laboratories.

Biology, physics, physical science, and chemistry were offered again this year. Physical science continues to grow in popularity.

While there were no major changes in the physics classes this year, plans next year include the instruction of the slide rule and going into some areas in greater depth, while eliminating others. This should make the course more relaxed.

Language classes, fine arts department participate in various projects

This year Roosevelt's language classes participated in many interesting projects to supplement the traditional classwork. Many language students were also involved in the four language clubs at Roosevelt: Latin, German, Spanish, and French.

Senor Luis Nunez's third year Spanish class topped off their study of Latin American Culture with a Bolivian meal. The meal was prepared by Roosevelt senior Agnes Borzo and Joanna Montgomery from Tech.

Four issues of a paper entitled "Caramba" were published by Senor Nunez's fifth year class. The paper, written entirely in Spanish, included editorials, current event articles about Roosevelt, riddles, and crossword puzzles. Each page was edited by a different class member, with Senor Nunez serving as cover illustrator.

The fourth year French class published a paper called "Le Bavardage". For those who don't speak French, the title translated means 'gossip'. The fourth year class also sang every Friday with piano accompaniment.

On the day before the Christmas Holidays the Spanish and French classes combined each period for a song fest. For well-known songs, such as "Silent Night", the French and Spanish groups each sang the song in their language and then all sang the last verse together in English.

Mr. Gary Thelen joined the language department as a French teacher second semester, replacing Mrs. Dargitz. He sponsored the French club formed second semester.

Mary Ranniger interviews Carol Coco, who portrays Bernardo O'Higgins, during an oral presentation in Senor Luis Nunez's third year Spanish class.

Mr. Gary Thelen, new at Roosevelt second semester, obviously enjoys teaching his second year French class very much.

As always, the vocal and music departments were active at Roosevelt this year. A new swing choir, The Early Dawn (TED), was formed this fall under the direction of vocal music instructor Delbert Schiebel. The group was composed of 16 members who were selected on the basis of auditions. The Early Dawn performed popular music, incorporating a wide variety of choreography into their numbers.

Roosevelt's concert band and orchestra displayed their creative talents several times this year. At the Winter Music Festival held January 13, both groups performed along with the stage band and The Early Dawn. The stage band delighted Roosevelt girls and their fathers when they played the famous tune "In the Mood" at the annual Daddy Daughter Dinner.

A new art instructor, Mr. Lynn Namminga, was added to the Roosevelt art department this year. Mr. Namminga, who graduated from Roosevelt in 1956, taught art at Goodrell for five years before coming to TRHS. Mr. Namminga commented, "It has been a wonderful, enlightening experience to teach art at the high school level to mature, genuinely interested students." Concerning the expansion of the TRHS Art department, Mr. Namminga emphasized that the art curriculum is being redesigned for next year when a third room will be in use.

Junior Lisa Berry concentrates her full attention on conductor Robert Bagley as the orchestra is about to begin one of its numerous rehearsals.

Patti O'Connell strikes an artistic pose as she puts the finishing touches on a project for painting class.

The Roosevelt Drama Department, besides putting on the numerous school-wide productions throughout the year, also offers drama courses to interested students. The courses, which are taught by Mr. Roger Anderson and Mr. Art Holcomb, are designed to give the students an overall view of the art of dramatics. Such things as pantomimes, improvisations on given situations, and short scenes, consisting of one act, are frequently presented by students. On the academic side, the theory of acting, stagecraft, and how to use make-up is taught. Hopefully, this combination of actual acting experience and basic theory will turn out many future stars of stage and screen.

Business, driver ed., and shop classes attract many students

Roosevelt's business department serves the needs of many students who are interested in vocational training. Students interested in job training can participate in the distributive education program in which they spend part of each school day working. Several students who participated in this program this year planned clothing displays in the glass display cases near the cafeteria. Students who participate in the distributive education program are given an opportunity to practice the skills that they learn in class.

Other important courses in the business department include typing, shorthand, and notehand. Students who merely want to learn to type for personal use can take the first semester of the series of typing courses that are offered. Notehand is an interesting course designed to teach students how to take notes for their personal use. It's similar to shorthand, a course which is designed for those interested in secretarial work. Many students who are planning to attend college take notehand so they will be able to take notes more efficiently in college. Junior Bev Winters, who took notehand second semester, commented that at first it was difficult, but she thinks it is a valuable course.

Films, textbooks, simulation, and driving practice aid students in learning highway skills and safety.

This year, graduates of the driver education course found that they did not need to take the driving test when they applied for their licenses, under a new policy of the Iowa Highway Commission.

The industrial arts department made plans to purchase $10,000 worth of electronics equipment next year. This year the industrial arts teachers began incorporating product and industrial designing into their regular drawing courses. Students talented in designing packages, bottles, or industrial products, such as vases, are allowed to pursue their interest during class time. This year four students, including one girl, studied industrial designing.

Adaptation to a consumer-oriented society has characterized course changes in the Home Economics Department. The two-semester course of Personal Family Living concentrates on preventing problems in marriage and family life, and family economics.

One-semester courses are Child Development, Home Furnishings, Beginning Clothing, Tailoring, and Beginning and Advanced Foods. Emphasis is placed on good use of time and resources and a concern for human values.

Miss Ruth Baumgartner and Mrs. Sharon Sibert, homemaking teachers, explained that the department's courses are designed "to help students adapt to a changing world with economic and personal values for themselves and their families."

English curriculum increases students' general knowledge

Roosevelt is lucky to have a very liberal and modern English department.

Many new courses have been added to the curriculum this year. The most popular, Individualized Reading, is a "curriculum of one student, conversation rather than lecture."

Other new courses this year are Major British Writers, Fundamentals of Composition, Elements of Writing, Novels of the World, and a one semester American Literature course.

Mrs. Jona Mann is this year's English coordinator.

Fields of various interests for social science students

Mr. Granville Welch points out to his history class a book which will provide added insight, while Mr. Keith Carlson (right) simply points to make his point.

The Social Studies Department continued to grow this year. Psychology was a new course added to the department. A one semester course, led by Mr. Carlson, gave many students a chance to further their own interests. The class included a field trip and several guest speakers in addition to the regular classroom curriculum. Towards the end of the course an independent study project was offered. Students chose their own subject to investigate and report on.

The sophomore class continued its study of world history. Mr. Geary, a new teacher, took the place of Mr. Viviano.

The junior classes had their regular American history class three times a week. On the other two days a variety of electives were offered. This is a continuation of last year.

Black History was available again this year. It is designed to go into greater depth than the regular history classes could. Several field trips were taken and contemporary issues were often discussed.

Mrs. Jagiello, for the second year, led an Anthropology class. This opened another area of interest for senior students.

For students who wanted it, there was an opportunity for a government and economics independent study project in lieu of the regular government and economics classes.

Physical education offers students various activities

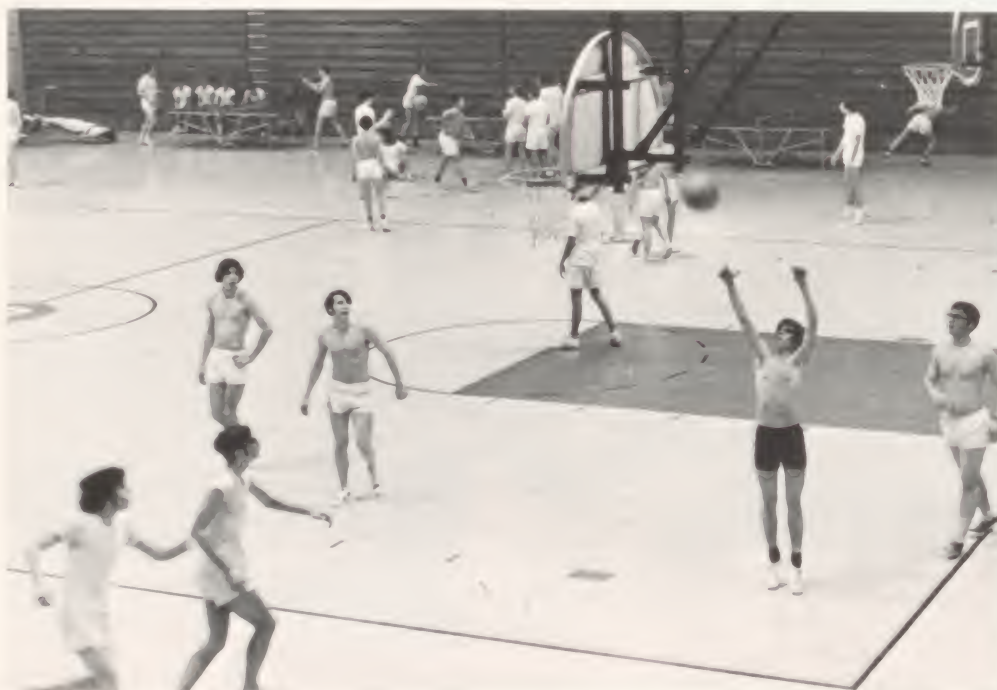

Physical education, an important part of your school activities, is offered to Roosevelt students in many forms.

Power volleyball was among one of the new sports added to the girls' gym classes.

With the addition of the girl's gymnastics team, many girls have been able to practice this sport.

Intra-mural sports were sponsored again this year by Mr. Robert Anderson for the boys' gym classes.

Students had the opportunity to go to a swim class instead of the regular gym class. A new diving board was purchased for the pool.

Various P. E. activities are enjoyed by the boys' gym class.

Study hall and library aid academic pursuits

The cafeteria and student center offered Roosevelt students varied atmospheres for study. Mrs. Vera Stauffer joined the staff as study hall teacher in the student center. Open campus was expanded from first and sixth to all six periods of the day.

Art work of Roosevelt students and from traveling art exhibits was displayed in the library throughout the year. A microfilm reader was added to the library for viewing back issues of magazines.

Teacher associates were a valuable aid to teachers by correcting papers and tests.

Various staff workers make education possible

Roosevelt's office staff this year included Mrs. Shirley Robinette, Mrs. Lillie Eckman, Mrs. Dolores Maertz, Mrs. Doris Aller, Miss Barbara Crouthamel (counseling), and Mrs. Eunice Ash.

Easing the way for teachers and students alike is Roosevelt's staff of professional office workers. Mrs. Shirley Robinette, treasurer, serves as the school's banker and accountant. Mrs. Lillie Eckman, registrar, is custodian of student records. Mrs. Dolores Maertz, secretary, is the principal's "right hand" and office manager, and is assisted by Mrs. Doris Aller. Miss Barbara Crouthamel is secretary for the counselors. Attendance recording and reporting is the province of Mrs. Eunice Ash.

The school's health service is supervised by Mrs. Bridget Sweet. A certified teacher as well as a registered nurse, she is widely recognized as an authority in the sensitive area of sex education. Special honor came to her this year when she was named as "Nurse of the Year" by her associates in central Iowa.

Mrs. Sweet's duties include caring for those who become ill at school, and deciding who should be sent home. She speaks to biology and homemaking classes about venereal disease and drugs, and gives confidential advice and referrals for personal health problems.

An understanding smile can have therapeutic value, as Mrs. Sweet demonstrates to an ailing sophomore.

Mrs. Bridget Sweet

Mr. Bruce Tyler, Head Custodian

Mr. Bruce Tyler, head custodian at Roosevelt, directs the fifteen-member staff of men whose job is to keep the school clean and running smoothly. The custodial staff, working in shifts, works to keep the halls free of litter and the parking lots and campus in good order.

Besides picking up after students, the custodians spend time keeping the building heated, opening stuck lockers, setting up for special events, and taking care of daily problems that plague the student body.

In the fall, classes were disrupted somewhat by noise and the smell of tar as the outside of the school building received a scrubbing. Special attention was paid to the limestone ornaments along the top of the building. In addition to the "bath," the roof was repaired.

Responsible for the school lunch program is a staff of eighteen lunchroom ladies under the management of Mrs. Jessie Fairbanks. The food service staff prepares hot lunches in the cafeteria, both Type-A and a-la-carte, and sack lunches for the student center. The cause of nutrition was pushed by a federal court ruling banning the sale of candy and snack foods during the lunch period. Some students won in part, though, by opening a concession stand during other hours of the day.

Mr. Gardner enjoys the refreshments at the annual faculty Christmas party in the library.

Future scientists Richard Book and Tim Riley explore the world of the microscope in their biology class.

Roosevelt teachers and students make school life more enjoyable

Bundled against the cold, two custodians attack the problem of snow removal.

Sophomore English can be a very amusing class, as shown by Mr. Pfander's animated discussion.

The receiving room is usually filled with teachers trying to escape from their students.

Tom McBride tutors beautiful girls at Hubbell.

Concentration is shown in the faces of concert chorus members as they practice their new songs.

Seniors

When I was small, I could not reach the door
And so I looked for someone to help me
But there were always questions; Why?
What for?
It always seemed an adult held the key.

As I grew tall, I hoped that I would be More free to choose the doors through which I'd go
But there remained to open doors for me,
Someone more wise.
It had not helped to grow.

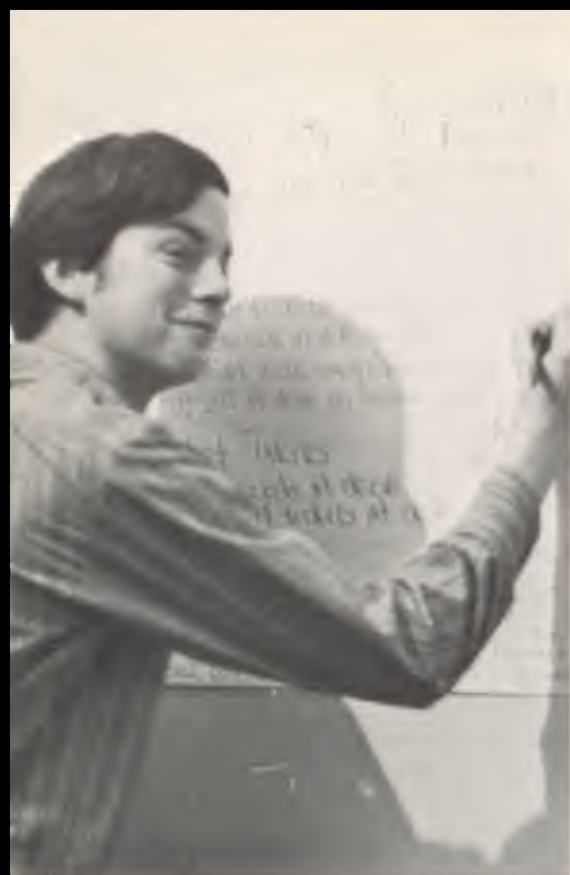

And now that many doors have opened wide
I find myself alone and free; but There are so many doors I can't decide
While I wait for help, the doors slowly shut.

The doors left closed arouse human suspicion
But opened doors result in indecision.

Student Life

Upon all lives each life depends the lives of flowers and birds of trees - - - and man
the very earth from which life grows is recreated by that life...

Each shall develop unto itself and from within must ever grow for when a thing shall cease to grow it ceases then--to be life
it grows to live
it lives to grow
an independent life and yet - - - interdependent upon all life

Sheri DiPaglia reigns over homecoming activities

Roosevelt's radiant queen is escorted on to the field by student council president, Bob Mannheimer, during homecoming half-time activities.

Homecoming was highlighted this fall with the crowning of Sheri DiPaglia as Roosevelt's 1971 homecoming queen. Amidst the mums, crazy cakes, and blue and white, the main festivities began on Friday, October 15, with the homecoming assembly. Anticipation in the crowd, ignited by the Girl's Club skit and the crowning of Sheri by football co-captains Dick McDonald and Dave Burford, together with excitement, continued to burn into the night.

In the first night game with East since 1963, the Riders made up for last year's defeat by downing the Scarlets 36-19 to sweep to a record of 6-0. With victory in the air, half-time was given an additional spark as the queen and her court were presented to the student body. The homecoming court consisted of seniors Flori Anderson, Colleen Foote, Kate McLaughlin, and Dee Ann Rhodes, plus junior Janet Willoughby and sophomore Lori Gruber.

Saturday night, October 16, Blue Star entertained couples at the homecoming dance. Decorated as a corral, the boy's gym and the student center, alias Rosie's Blue Garter Cafe, followed the theme "How the West Won."

The crazy kake kontest, besides being a tradition of homecoming week, also provides an opportunity for students to put their white thumbs to work. These girls, eyeing the final products, find it difficult to decide which masterpiece deserves to win.

'The Thurber Carnival' brings satire to TRHS stage

Roosevelt Drama Department presented "The Thurber Carnival," a series of humorous skits and monologues, on November 12 and 13. The "Carnival," by James Thurber, was a light satire depicting everyday life.

"Thurber Carnival" featured a huge cast with each student taking part in two or more skits. The evening began with "Word Dance," a skit consisting of one-liners. Brian Davidson continued with the monologue, "The Night the Bed Fell," "Three Fables of Our Time," "The Wolf at the Door," "The Unicorn in the Garden," and "The Little Girl and the Garden" followed.

The audience soon discovered what would have happened "If Grant Had Been Drinking at Appomattox" and then paid a visit to a hermit on a desert island in "Casual of the Keys." "The Macbeth Murder Mystery" and "Gentlemen Shoppers" followed. Act I ended with a monologue by Amy Robbins entitled, "The Last Flower."

The second act began with "The Pet Department." In "File and Forget," Mr. Thurber presented his problems with misdirected mail. "Mr. Preble Gets Rid of His Wife" in hopes of running away with his secretary, classic poems were reworded in "Take Her Up Tenderly," and the day-dreams of the average husband are revealed in, "The Secret Life of Walter Mitty".

"Thurber Carnival" concluded with another "Word Dance" against a huge backdrop of black on white Thurber caricatures.

Robert Keck Seminars prove successful

On November 17 and 18 Roosevelt's classrooms were transformed into enthusiastic, captivating seminars. Everyday subjects were abandoned for 45 student-selected topics. The cause of these happenings, the Robert Keck Seminars, a project of the Inter-Des Moines Student Council. Each school scheduled the seminars for some time during the school year. The theme for the seminars at Roosevelt was "Everything You Always Wanted to Know About. . .but Were Afraid to Ask."

The seminars were planned by a committee of faculty members and students. The students were Jon Pickard, Carolyn McNurlen, Lorie Roxberg, Theresa Riffe, and co-chairmen Mette Brogden and Alan Neumann. The committee suggested some 60 topics that were voted on by the entire student body. The classes which were actually offered included yoga, racism, diving, sailing, hypnotism, karate, communal living, candle-making, contemporary poetry, tie-dyeing, and macrame. Speakers and outside participants were invited to attend, and students helped teach also.

The interest and participation shown proved the success of the first Robert Keck Seminars. They also illustrated that learning does not have to take place in a structured classroom situation to succeed.

Ski Club sponsors two trips

This fall Roosevelt's Ski Club, led by President Steve Proctor, traveled by bus to Telemark, a ski resort in Cable, Wisconsin. One busload of students went on the trip, including students from other schools. In February the All-City Ski Club returned to Terry Peak near the former mining town of Deadwood, South Dakota. Almost 80 skiers enjoyed beautiful weather on the slopes and from the chair-lift. Unfortunately, two casualties occurred as Mara McKeon and Tom Child suffered broken legs, but they, too, would agree that it was a great ski trip.

Amid paper airplanes and pep assemblies, the fall 1971 student council soared. Outstanding officers and an energetic group of committee chairmen created a semester of achievement.

Innovation was the motive of this student council. Hard work and devotion were key factors in the development of new programs.

A human relations committee was created to hold discussion meetings which allowed students to express their views on race relations at Roosevelt, and thus decrease black-white tensions.

A Lincoln-Roosevelt open house following a basketball game was arranged at which social as well as financial success was achieved. Square dancing, folk singing, and rock music were featured.

A student rights committee was formed to study the rights of the student body. A small booklet was published giving the results of their investigation.

Procedure for selection of the homecoming queen, always an area of controversy, received council attention. As a result, future queens will be selected by a vote of the entire senior class, rather than the football team. The council also recommended the elimination of the naming of a senior valedictorian and changes in reporting class rank, and both measures received administrative approval.

A major issue for the semester was student evaluation of teachers. The council proposal aroused heated discussion, both for and against, and from both faculty and students. A final decision on the matter was postponed until late spring.

A federal ruling which banned candy and soft drink sales in the student center led to an activity fund crisis. The finance committee solved the problem in part with a revival of the pancake breakfast. Faculty and student body combined to feed several thousand at the February event, and raise much-needed funds.

A pass-fail grading procedure was hammered out in lively sessions of the student-faculty liaison committee. Administrative approval led to hopes that the system would be in operation by the fall of 1972 for Roosevelt's fiftieth year.

Dozens of other projects were completed by hard-working committees.

Hard work and new ideas equal a successful spring

The spring student council, headed by president Randy Kardon and officers Mark Sidney, first vice-president; Bill Schweiker, second vice-president; Sandee Terzis, secretary; and Peter Rose, chief justice, initiated many new projects and continued with some of the old. Meeting every Tuesday morning, the council worked vigorously on such items as Pancake Day, Voter Education and Registration Week, a Fine Arts Festival, a student evaluation of teachers proposal, and the establishment of a new class rank system.

Keeping up with past traditions, Roosevelt's council provided many services to the city and school. Aided by the committees, it helped with Lily Day, Pace, Goal, and the Volunteer Bureau. The council also appropriated funds for the chess and girls' track teams, for an air conditioner in the new counseling wing, and for trash cans to place around the campus. Various money-making projects, such as the student council-sponsored film, made all this possible.

One of the major new changes was the retitling of the student court. This spring it officially became the Student Judiciary Council. The title of chief justice was changed to "chairman." The new council continued to assume the same responsibilities and tasks, but also began to deal further into the matter of students' rights.

Another first was a pitch tournament organized by the student council. It gained wide popularity and hardly a day passed without cards being shuffled somewhere within the building.

Voter Education and Registration Week, April 20-24, was an important event sponsored by the Roosevelt Student Council. Its main purpose was to inform the students and to encourage all 18-year-olds to vote. Above, at the assembly that highlighted the week, President Randy Kardon speaks to the student body. At right, the speakers wait to be introduced: (from left) Chuck Dick, Republican; Robert Dilley, American Independent; Norman Jesse, Democrat; and Louise Moon, League of Women Voters.

The Scopes monkey trial was the central plot of Roosevelt's winter play, "Inherit the Wind." The stage was set in the atmosphere of a hot July 1925 in Dayton, Tennessee.

The play was presented March 3 and 4 under the direction of Mr. Art Holcomb. Randy Kardon, as Lawyer Henry Drummond, and Charles Crivaro, as Matthew H. Brady, were the center of controversy concerning the origin of man.

Bert Cates, played by Jeff Sternberg, portrayed Henry Drummond's client, a teacher of the theory of evolution. Another controversy blooms in the romance of Cates and Rachel Brown (played by Marilyn Hargrove), daughter of the Rev. Brown, Dave Wertsch.

Tension reaches its peak during the trial where the entire cast of 35 appears. Inquisitive children were played by Kirk Tozer, Ellen Galvin, and Carrie Cash. Amy Robbins, Brady's protective wife; and Madelyn Bucksbaum and Sally Lyon, head-strong elderly ladies, all view the trial with uncompromising opinions.

Other cast members included Steve Gustafson, Scott Mullenberg, Fred Wilson, Mark Hansen, Al Nuemann, Wim Coleman, Jeff Wills, Judd Maher, Pete Vernasco, Jeff Mosher, Jenifer Mercer, Mary Kay Snyder, Sandee Terzis, Myra Brooks, Ann Kitch, and Judy Bricker.

Jurors and townspeople were portrayed by Richard Barnes, Randy Behrle, Judy Cram, Bruce Kelley, Melodie Mackie, Daryl McNeil, and Dennis Martens.

Set, props, make-up, costumes, lighting, and sound helped produce the hot July atmosphere and heated controversy.

The play concluded with the tragic death of Matthew Brady and the conviction of Bert Cates.

'Peanuts' characters come to life on stage in spring musical

Schroeder (Peter Vernasco) directs the glee club as they rehearse the song "Home on the Range" for the school assembly.

Linus (Kirk Tozer) confuses Patti, the jump-rope kid (Mary Kay Snyder), with words of wisdom about happiness.

Music, acting, and the innocence of childhood were combined by the Drama Department in the successful spring musical, "You're a Good Man Charlie Brown."

The story and characters were adapted from the "Peanuts" comic strip by Charles Schulz.

A typical day in the life of Charlie Brown was the setting, with a series of humorous events involving all the members of the gang. One was a baseball game in which the gang was defeated because Charlie Brown was watching the little red-haired girl (his secret love) instead of the ball and struck out. Another was a glee club rehearsal, with Schroeder as the conductor.

The highlight of the show was Snoopy's supertime, in which Jeff Wills displayed talent in acting and comedy.

The cast consisted of Jeff Mosher as Charlie Brown, Kirk Tozer as thumb-sucking Linus, Pete Vernasco as Schroeder, Judy Bricker as big-mouthed Lucy, Mary Kay Snyder as Patti, and Jeff Wills as Snoopy.

Snoopy (Jeff Wills), the World War I flying ace, is in search of the famous Red Baron, and he almost gets his man! But alas, the Red Baron dives out of the sun and shoots Shooppy down.

Lucy (Judy Bricker) sings to Schroeder (Pete Vernasco) about their "marriage," but he ignores her.

The heart of this year's Spinsters' Spree, "On a Carousel," lay in its making. Girls' Club put many months of work into the dance's unique aspect, its 14 booths. They included "Gypsy Rose Lee, the Mystic of Big D," "Spin Art," "Picture Booth," "Hula Hoop Hysterics," "Turtle Races," "Horse Shoe Toss," "Kiss Computer," "Balloon Bust," "Century of Cuties," a jail, and the Student Center featuring cotton candy. Clowns roamed the dance floor selling helium balloons as couples danced to the music of the "Library," an eight-piece brass band. The dance was headed by Girls' Club Social Co-chairmen Sue Long and Marci Carter.

The dance floor was bordered by striped, multi-colored poles. Crepe paper streamers spiraled from the poles to a central point on the ceiling, tying the dance together with a carnival tent effect.

The Spree is an annual girl-ask-boy spring dance. This year, girls gave their dates unique handkerchiefs.

A highlight of the evening was the crowning of Man-of-the-Year Jerry Mitchell by Girls' Club President Colleen Foote, beneath a wooden carousel.

Commencement, Class Day end seniors' year

Mrs. Jack Spevak, president of the school board, hands Marci Carter her diploma as Mr. Curnutt looks on.

Class Day was Thursday, May 18, this year. The usual Class Day Assembly was changed somewhat by turning it into an all-school recognition assembly. Seniors received department awards, and scholarships were announced. Also, the chess team and several sport teams were recognized for their achievements.

Commencement went smoothly on the evening of May 25. Roosevelt seniors were the first to graduate in Des Moines this year. Commencement exercises took place at Veterans Auditorium. State Senator John Tapscott was the guest speaker, and his talk, directed at youth today, was entitled "Quality of Life."

Roosevelt represents Greece at Model U.N.

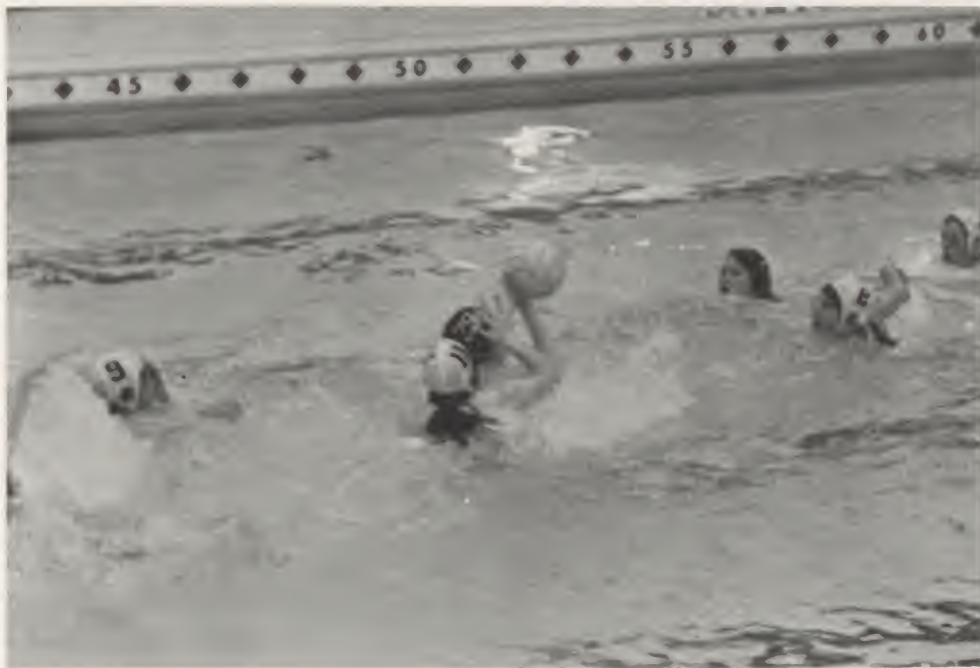

Roosevelt participated in the Iowa High School Model United Nations again this year. The conference was held April 21 and 22 on the University of Northern Iowa campus. The delegation was headed by Bruce Kelley. Mr. Carlson was the sponsor.

Eight students attended the Model U.N. They were Ann Bucksbaum, Carol Garten, Bruce Kelley, Sue Kern, Janet Nielson, Jon Pickard, Alex Pritchard, and Sandee Terzis. They attended meetings of United Nations committees, voted on resolutions about current world problems, and then met in a mock General Assembly to act on the resolutions brought up from committees.

The participants found that U.N. work takes much patience, diplomacy, and knowledge of the policies of one's country. A lot of research was done prior to the Model U.N., but the Roosevelt representatives had fun doing both the work and meeting people from all over Iowa.

Girls' water polo team organized late in year

This April a girls' water polo team was organized. About fourteen girls participated in the sport under the direction of the boys' coach and members of the boys' water polo team. They swam against Lincoln twice. The first time the Roosevelt girls won easily; the second meet they lost by one point. Kathy Brittain was named the star player for having scored the most goals.

Girls' Club works actively for Roosevelt and community

Girls' Club incorporated community activities as well as projects within the school for a year full of work, achievement, and friendships.

Activities began with the big-little sister program to acquaint new sophomore girls with Girls' Club and Roosevelt. This was accented by a tea the first week of school.

September also brought caramel apple sales followed by October Homecoming activities. School Spirit Committee sponsored the selling of mums as girls and boys both baked "krazy kakes" to be entered in the annual contest.

For the first time, a Poster-of-the-Week contest was held to boost spirit for the Dowling football game. Contestants were inspired to creativity with the goal of receiving a $50 Reichardt's gift certificate.

Pep activities also included the selling of Roosevelt sweaters, pep assemblies featuring skits and balloons, telegrams and post cards for team members, and the decoration of football players' houses.

Roosevelt Girls' Club sponsored an All-City picnic for the Girls' Club boards of all Des Moines high schools, followed by a tea for Roosevelt's foreign students and new upper-classmen.

Holiday activities began with the Thanksgiving Canned Foods Drive. Four welfare families received the contributions, accented by plump turkeys from Boys' Club.

On December 9, an all-girl assembly was held for the performance of Roosevelt's girl gymnasts. December also included a Christmas party at Smouse Opportunity Center, featuring a reading of "How The Grinch Stole Christmas," songs, laughter, Santa Claus, and Boys' Club goody bags.

February's Daddy-Daughter Dinner brought a capacity crowd to the cafeteria under the theme, "Love is a Special Way of Feeling." The evening was planned by Girls' Club grade representatives.

For the third year, the Mr. Legs contest was held to earn money for Spree. Dave Wolz was elected through monetary voting as the man with the cutest legs.

The April 8 Spree, "On a Carousel," represented months of Girls' Club work. The annual dance included 14 booths, music by the "Library," and the crowning of Man-of-the-Year Jerry Mitchell.

Money-making projects to finance activities included the selling of pop corn balls, cookies, and stationery.

Projects were also carried out by the following committees: Assembly, Blind Ladies, Calvin Manor, Convalescent Home, Election, Friendship, Pep Club, Publicity, School Beautiful, School Spirit, and Social.

The year ended with the installation of the new board and a tea following the ceremony.

With a staff of over 25 students, expert management, and hard work the 1972 yearbook was created. Jane Easter, editor, along with her assistant Dick Hoffman, provided a strong leadership for the workers.

There were very few major changes made this year over last year's annual. The size remained the same and the delivery date in late August was chosen by the student body. This enabled the staff to cover the entire school year. The staff worked for improvements in readability and interest value in the copy and cutlines, and to omit excessive subjectivity.

The staff was chosen in late October, which was a slight disadvantage. Many events including open houses, football games and school projects were over before the staff was named, and students working on the student life department needed to backtrack for information and pictures of fall events.

Without the aid of John Valle, Chris Hufford, and Dana Neumann as staff photographers, the yearbook would have been disaster. The photographers took pictures before, after and during school as well as at school functions on weekends, providing the staff with hundreds of photographs.

The yearbook sponsor, Mr. Donald Haley, donated time, helpful suggestions, witty comments and patience to the struggling staff members. The staff, in showing their appreciation for his help presented him with an attractive wooden stool at the end of the year.

"We're better organized than in past years and the staff produced very well," Jane Easter commented at the completion of her reign as editor of the 1972 Round-up.

Spirit was added to Roosevelt's basketball and football games, thanks to the Band, Riderettes, and Flag Cadets. Mr. Robert Bagley sponsored all of the groups again this year, and many hours were spent in diligent practice, some of which was held outside in the cold fall weather.

Nancy Newell was Head Riderette this year, and Tom Cunningham assisted the Riderettes as drum major. Together with the Flag Cadets, led by Louise Ritchhart, students and spectators were enthused by half-time and pre-game entertainment.

Some courageous Riderettes continued the relatively new Roosevelt tradition performing to the music "The Stripper." Also, as in years past, the marching band performed once with the band from North High School.

The Flag Cadets, dressed in complete uniform, lead the Roosevelt Marching Band on to the field at a football game for the national anthem.

This year's drum major was Tom Cunningham, a senior, shown marching intently down the field.

Mixed, Concert Choruses feature variety

Daily practice under the direction of Mr. Delbert Schiebel brought the Concert and Mixed Choruses a successful year.

Concert Chorus performed frequently throughout the year. Audiences varied from junior highs to a performance at Veterans Memorial Auditorium.

Concert Chorus sang a wide variety of music. The light "Sunny Side to the Street" and the more traditional "Chichester Psalms" are examples of the selections by Concert

Chorus.

The Mixed Chorus also used variety in its programs. "Do You Know the Way to San Jose" and "Three Contemporary Madrigals," taken from Shakespeare's A Twelfth Night, were included in the Mixed Chorus repertoire.

As a grand finale to the year, Mixed Chorus and Concert Chorus joined the orchestra in performing the lengthy "Vivaldi Gloria" at the Cultural Nights in May.

Busy year for Early Dawn, Girls' Chorus

The Early Dawn, an eighteen-member swing choir, entertained at numerous group functions throughout the school year.

Accompanied by piano, drums and guitar, the group presented programs of popular music and choreography. The numbers ranged from current hits such as "Everything is Beautiful," "Both Sides Now," and "We've Only Just Begun" to the motionless "Requiem for the Masses," and whimsical show tunes of "Applause" and "Hernando's Hideaway."

Audiences included a business convention, church gatherings, clubs, retirement homes, junior high schools, and the annual winter concert. The highlight of the year was a concert on May 17 as part of the Cultural Nights.

Characteristic of the swing choir was a feeling of fellowship among group members, and frequent parties added spice to the year's activities.

The Girls' Chorus also had an active year. Entertaining for varied groups, they performed such numbers as "Negra Sum" and "Ceremony of Carols." Girls' Chorus ended their year by providing the music for Girls' Club Installation in the spring of 1972.

Feet tapping and singing along, Mr. Schiebel directs the choruses.

Roosevelt orchestra performs at Winter Concert, Fine Arts Festival, 'Charlie Brown'

Under the direction of Mr. Robert Bagley, the Roosevelt Orchestra participated in three major productions this year.

One of the highlights of the year was the Winter Concert, January 13. Some of the selections performed were "Concerto in D Minor" by Vivaldi, with a trio by Karl Morison, Lisa Berry, and Juliana Morison; "Thunder and Lightning Polka" by Johann Strauss; and an arrangement by Frederick Loewe of "Highlights from My Fair Lady."

Several orchestra members provided a lighthearted accompaniment for the musical "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown," April 21-22.

As a climax for the season, the orchestra performed May 15 as a part of the Culture Nights. In the first part of the program, Schubert's Unfinished Symphony, "Fiddle Faddle" by LeRoy Anderson, and selections from "West Side Story" were among those performed. In the second part, the orchestra combined with the combined choruses to present "Gloria," by Antonio Vivaldi.

Four students made the All-State Orchestra. These were Dan Stevenson, clarinet; Lisa Berry, first violin; Mary Carr, first violin; and Juliana Morison, first chair cello.

Roosevelt's fiddler on the roof, first chair violinist Karl Morison tunes his instrument.

Orchestra members wait patiently for rehearsal to begin on the Fine Arts Festival program they will perform with the choruses.

Cheerleaders mix work and fun for a successful year

"Two points!" exclaims cheerleader Holly Morrison, as Beth Beals gives her added support.

The thrill and excitement of high school athletics wouldn't be quite the same without the presence of the Roosevelt cheerleaders. Hours of practice prepare the two squads, sponsored by Mrs. Eula Cole, for their activities on the cold football field, the crowded gymnasium floor, and the swimming pool deck. In addition to the job of sparking spirit at athletic events, the girls lead pep assemblies, paint posters, and decorate the locker rooms.

The 12-member varsity squad, led by captain Debbie Barnes and secretary Pam Abegg, cheered at football, basketball, and swimming contests. Their activities were highlighted by new basketball and swimming uniforms.

Senior Holly Morrison captained the wrestling cheerleading squad this year. Cheering at wrestling and cross-country meets, the five girls worked to stimulate school spirit for the teams.

A movie night, homecoming car rally, and joint projects with Girls' Club provided a year of work for Boys' Club.

This year's club was headed by Jim Blackburn, president; Doug Hutchison, vice-president; Jerry Mitchell, secretary; and Dave Burford, treasurer.

Also heading activities were chairmen Clayton Copple, Dave Hicks, Kevin Shay, and Mike Wellman.

Activities began in October when Boys' Club sponsored a Homecoming car rally and awarded prizes to the best decorated cars.

The club awarded a $20 contribution to the second prize of the Girls' Club-sponsored "Dowling Poster-of-the-Week Contest." The creators of the poster were seniors Louise Ritchhart and Terry McBurney.

The club also participated in holiday activities. In November, Boys' Club contributed three turkeys to the Girls' Club Thanksgiving canned foods drive. At a Girls' Club Christmas party for Smouse Opportunity Center, the boys distributed goody bags to the children.

Spring activities were highlighted by "An Evening With W. C. Fields," the first film night at Roosevelt. Short movies were presented in the Student Center at 50 cents admission.

Funds were also raised by the selling of buttons, t-shirts, and TRHS boxers.

International Club strives for exchange of ideas, facts

The International Club incorporated visual aids, discussions, speakers, and informal gatherings at football games and potlucks this year to strive for cultural exchange of ideas, facts, and international discussion.

Its members included foreign exchange students and Roosevelt students who have had the opportunity of experience in foreign travel.

Elected officers this year included Ann Bucksbaum, president; Gary Hanover, vice-president; and Karen Kagin, secretary.

Meetings were held bi-monthly, accentuated by a joint International Club-Student Council Board potluck meeting featuring French crepes. Also on the agenda was a potluck in April with food contributions typical of the members' home countries.

Meetings often included presentations with the use of photographs and illustrations. They also featured descriptions of personal travel experiences.

Six foreign exchange students participated in International Club's discussions and activities. They were as follows: Herman Metselaar of Holland, Eddie Stefancic of Yugoslavia, Ferdy Suleeman of Indonesia, Miriam Hmood and Sahera Ramadan of Kuwait, and Monica Lima of Brazil.

President Ann Bucksbaum commented, "Hopefully, high school foreign exchange programs will lead to better world relations in the future."

Roundup's circulation is increased

The Roosevelt Roundup continued its tradition of objective news coverage and editorial leadership in its forty-ninth year of publication. Sparked by excellent fall and spring staffs, the Roundup experienced its largest circulation during the 1971-1972 school year. Financial aid from both the Parent-Faculty and Riders Clubs make it possible to send the Roundup to each student's home. The Roundup leaned away from the reporting of specific club news to more general news stories and editorials.

The fall Roundup staff was headed by editor Sue Arnold, managing-editor Louise Ritchart, and copy editor Janet Miller. The fall paper was noted for its liberal editorial policy which aimed at increasing students' awareness of issues outside of Roosevelt. Varying types of columns were emphasized in the fall Roundup; stand-outs were columns commenting on literature and music, humorous columns, and highly personalized sports columns.

Laura Gilbert edited the spring Roundup, and Duane Truitt served as managing editor. The spring staff had a more conservative editorial policy. An editorial in the March 8, 1972, Roundup stated that "our objective is to print news that is important to Roosevelt students and editorials that express the opinions of the Roundup staff."

John Valle, photographer for the Roundup, earned much praise with his clear, on-the-scene photographs.

Thespians participate in drama productions

Drama interests were shared this year by members of the Drama Thespian Club. The club was headed by Randy Kardon, president; Wim Coleman, vice-president; Sherry Baum, treasurer; and Amy Robbins, scribe.

Also heading activities were Melodie Mackie, historical; Guy Wuttke, publicity; and Barb Howard, refreshments. Mette Brogden, Brian Davidson, and Pete Vern-also aided in the selection plays.

Members of Thespians participated in drama productions by working aspects of drama such as makeup, set, props, acting, and publicity.

Students who worked activity in these areas were initiated to Thespian Club. To become a member, they were required to earn 10 points, each point representing 10 hours of work within drama committee.

This year, meetings were highlighted by the presentations of club members.

Mimes entertain community groups, elementary schools, Fine Arts Week

Gestures, body movements, and "speechless" creativity were combined this year to form the one-act skits of the Roosevelt Mimes.

Most acts were presented to community organizations. The 12 Mimes had weekly Sunday rehearsals in preparation for performances at elementary schools, the Iowa State Fair, church groups, and other organizations.

The year was highlighted with an appearance for Fine Arts Week in May. The Fine Arts Week consisted of presentations from the art, music, and drama departments. Mimes, representing the drama department, presented a 20-minute program of favorite skits.

Black tights, brightly colored shirts, white makeup, and, most of all, imagination helped create pantomimes portraying various facets of life. Examples of such skits include Cupid, Shower With a Friend, Sophomore Mixer, Frog and Princess, Wax Museum, and Russian Roulette.

The Mimes combined ideas and inspirations to produce new one-act skits in March, adding to their programs.

Master Mime Mary Kay Snyder commented, "The art of pantomiming is a lot of hard work."

Wim Coleman added, "Mimes is a lot of fun and it has its rewards."

Sharks present colorful pageant

Sharks Club helped welcome spring with an exceptional pageant on April 13, 14, and 15. The theme of the pageant was "Color My World," with each number based on a song dealing with color. Memorable numbers included routines done to "Mellow Yellow," "Pink Panther" and "Greensleaves." The pageant ended in a black and white finale with all 42 members of the club participating. Dee Ann Rhodes was soloist; June and Joan Edison and Carol Schropp and Diane Dickinson swam duets.

Sharks Club also held several potlucks throughout the year after welcoming 12 "minnows" into the club in the fall of 1971. The Sharks presented a skit at the Tankers Banquet to honor the boys' swim team. They also continued to teach swimming in girls' gym.

Fall officers were Carol Schropp, president; Jan Walker, vice-president; Shela Codner, secretary; and June Edison, treasurer. Spring officers were Trish Maher, president; Joan Edison, vice-president; Jan Canon, secretary; and Laura Gilbert, treasurer.

Leaders assist girls' gym classes

Leaders Club aided Mrs. Cole with gym classes throughout the year. Taking numbers, leading exercises, and refereeing games. Canned food was collected at Thanksgiving for an underprivileged family as a community service project. Potlucks were held, with a joint Leaders-Shark potluck being held in the fall.

The club newspaper, the "Weakly Leader" was edited and distributed bi-weekly.

Leaders sported new blue and white uniforms, featuring shorts with "Leaders" printed on back.

Fall Leaders officers were Julie Molleck, president; Mary Jo Van Verth, vice-president; Sheri DiPaglia, secretary, and Jenny Froyd, treasurer. Laura Beeler served as spring president. She was assisted by her board: Ann Follett, Patty Jordal, and Jane Ilgenfritz.

Four language clubs were active at Roosevelt throughout the year. Besides having their usual after-school meetings and the occasional soccer games, they also worked to promote understanding of the foreign countries.

French Club was sponsored by Mr. Gary Thelen. Under the direction of senior Pam Abegg, president, the club toured the Des Moines Art Center and had a French picnic in Greenwood Park. The members were also kept busy with a bake sale at school.

The highlights of this year's Spanish Club, sponsored by Mr. Luis Nunez, included a Christmas radio program on KDPS, a dinner at the Taco Kid, and a program on South America given by Mr. Thelen. Senior Norm Rosen presided over their bi-weekly meetings.

Led by officers Flori Andersen and Lee Hayes, the German Club members participated in many activities. Besides tobogganing in the winter and picnicking in the spring, they went camping and often got together at each others' homes. The club, started with a suggestion and support from a student teacher, was sponsored by Mr. David Graham.

Latin Club was in charge of ticket sales for the Inter-City Latin Banquet in March and held their own feast May 27. They also had a cultural Latin exhibit and were busy with various fund-raising projects. Mrs. Fant sponsored the club and the officers included Tanya Franklin, Klotz; Jeff Wills, proconsul; Holly Klotz, scribe; and Barb Stacey, quaestor.

Chess Club is third best in the nation

Steve Greffenius struggles through a difficult game of chess.

The Roosevelt High School Chess Club had its most successful year ever this school year. A year full of tournaments and practices culminated with the team's trip to New York City, April 7-9, for the National High School Chess Championship.

Nearly $450 was raised to help send the seven-man team to the nationals. Prize money from the state tournament, and donations from the student council and Rider's Club, and contributions from Des Moines' companies and individuals helped pay the way to send Roosevelt's largest delegation ever to the national tournament.

Although the club had serious hopes of winning the national team title (they were in contention until the final round), they were very proud of their third-place finish.

Other highlights of the year were a third-place team finish at the Midwest High School Chess Championship in Indianapolis in November, and the Team's third straight Iowa High School Team Championship, won in Des Moines in December. A record fourteen Roosevelt players participated in the state tournament, which was originally organized by the Roosevelt Chess Club members.

The Chess Club met formally after school on Tuesdays under the sponsorship of Mr. Tom Zike, and met informally throughout the year.

Jon Frankle, who is president of Chess Club, took first place in five out of eight tournaments. Jon also tied with Dick McDonald for first place in the Iowa High School Championship. Some other members who accompanied Jon and Dick to New York were: Steve Greffenius, Dave Wolz, Mark Arnold, Doug Eckley, and Doug Stolz.

DECA combines work and study; Leo Club serves community

The Distributive Education Club of America (DECA) offers an opportunity for students to both work and attend classes in the morning, which consist of job training or required courses, then work in the afternoon. The club consists of 35 members, all of whom have taken one semester of salesmanship and one semester of business training to qualify.

Officers of the club are Bill Campbell, president; Carol Jackson, vice president; Mary Pigneri, secretary; Terri Howe, treasurer; and Randy Southard, historian. DECA members worked together to raise money in a candle-selling drive in the fall. They have participated in an all-state DECA conference, in which seminars were held and members became acquainted with DECA students from across the state. In the spring, DECA members participated in an employer-employee banquet and outstanding work was given recognition.

DECA gives students a chance to earn money, to receive valuable training, and to act as responsible employees. As Carol Jackson describes the club, "It gives a person both freedom and an insight to plan for his future."

Leo Club, a junior division of Lions Club, is a community service organization at Roosevelt. During the past year, the seven members have been active selling light bulbs to raise money. Profits went to the Iowa Commission for the Blind. In addition, the club attended several luncheons sponsored by the Lions Club. Officers are Jim Johnson, president; Tony Kingkade, vice president; and Dick Hoffmann, secretary-treasurer.

Roosevelt debate team splits season 47-41; special interest clubs study various fields

This year's varsity debate team was characterized by a lack of experience. Only two debaters, senior Bruce Kelly and junior Jim Prall, returned from last year's team. Because of this, senior Alex Pritchard and junior Daryl McNeal debated on the Varsity rather than on the Novice level. Also new to this year's team were individual eventists Karen Gentleman, a junior, and Walden Miller, a sophomore.

Despite the shortage of experienced debaters, the team fared well during the 1972 season. They consistently placed high in the debate tournaments they entered, and just missed bringing home trophies on several occasions. Such was the case at the Newton Tournament, January 7-8, where the team missed taking home a trophy by just one win.

Another near-victory occurred at the Cedar Falls tournament, February 18 and 19. Daryl and Jim recieved special recognition for being the only team to win all six debates. Bruce and Alex ended up 2-4.

The team had an overall record of 47 wins and 41 losses.

This year's debate topic was: Resolved: that the judicial system in the United States should be significantly changed.

The basics of photography were taught by seniors Chris Hufford and Larry Killam in a pilot program, Photo Lab.

Seven interested students met three times a week during fifth hour for instruction. Included in the program were field trips for taking pictures, along with time in the darkroom for developing and printing.

In addition to the student instructors, participants were Mr. Delbert Schiebel, Al Neumann, Bruce Black, Steve Jepsen, and Herman Metselaar.

Junior Karen Gentleman, contestant individual forensics events, practices her presentation.

A makeup demonstration and discussion, presented by Miss Kathy Garvin of Younkers in Merle Hay Plaza, highlighted one meeting of Homemaking Club this year. She discussed grooming, and gave a demonstration with cosmetics from Younkers.

Another program included two representatives of Flair Modeling Agency, who spoke on standing and walking gracefully. As a service project, club members made special favors for children at Mercy Hospital.

Homemaking Club conducted meetings every Monday night after school, in room 210. Miss Ruth Baumgartner served as sponsor.

Involvement was planned first semester by President Janet Mauk, Vice-President Kris Horning, Secretary Patti Jo Andrew, and Treasurer Lesanne Brenneman.

Second semester officers were Anna Lercher, president; Julie Fellers, vice-president; Mindy Bordt, secretary; and Kris Horning, treasurer.

Secretarial Club met the first Monday of every month, with preparation led by President Debbie Coats, Vice-President Judi Davis; Secretary Linda Bell, and Treasurer Carol Perry. Faculty assistance was given by Miss Connie Feist, sponsor.

Programs of interest to future secretaries included guest speakers, question and answer sessions, and refreshments. Some of the people who visited the club to describe their secretarial careers were a medical secretary, the owner of a business, a personnel manager, and a student who takes court recordings.

President Debbie Coats said, "I speak for everyone. We have learned a great deal from all of our guests that will help us in knowing what to look for in jobs and what employers want in us."

Club members bought T-shirts with "sec's" printed on them, and pins inscribed with the club name.

Student assistants aid staff

Each year many students volunteer their time to school services, either by helping in the office, the library, or the nurse's office. By serving during their study hall, lunch hour, or homeroom, students learn about the department in which they are working while providing assistance to the staff.

Library assistants help the librarians at the desk by checking books in and out, finding old copies of periodicals on request, and processing and shelving books.

Office helpers provide basic services including answering phone calls on the switchboard, distributing messages to boxes and running errands.

Nurse's monitors provide beneficial assistance by answering phone calls, checking people in, and administering basic first aid if the nurse is not present.

Without these helpers the service departments would be greatly handicapped. The overburdened nurse, librarians, and secretaries appreciate this assistance.

TRHS crews provide assistance and varied services

Four crews work behind the scenes at Roosevelt to provide technical assistance for various activities and productions throughout the year.

The Roosevelt Sound Crew is responsible for supplying sound for all indoor athletic events, assemblies, and week-end activities at school. The crew provides sound tracks and voice supports for the Drama Department and the Sharks' Pageant. Under the direction of seniors Dave Aldridge and John Romig, sound crew members worked this year on the public address system in the auditorium, to achieve maximum efficiency by April.

Also active with assemblies, dramatic events, and the Sharks' Pageant is the stage crew. Its members control the spotlights and curtains, and build the sets for plays and other presentations. As an extra, the crew helps with non-Roosevelt activities at night and on weekends. Mr. Walter Hayes sponsors the stage crew.

Mrs. Lorraine Hutson was in charge of this year's audio visual crew. The crew's primary responsibility is to see that teachers get equipment necessary for the presentation of films, tapes, and other educational aids. It also makes minor repairs on movie projectors and tape recorders.

The VTR staff, headed by Steve Gustafson and Dave Aldridge and sponsored by Mrs. Ruby Wells, is responsible for video taping class projects and lectures, and taping television programs for later use. At present, 40 tapes are in use by the social science, English and language departments.

Y.E.A., F.M.C., horsemanship, and photography reflect student interests

An old hobby and a new organization played important roles on the Roosevelt campus during the year. Photography is the hobby, and taking photographs for the newspaper and yearbook is a very important job. Among the active photographers at Roosevelt are Chris Hufford and John Valle, pictured at work on this page. They are asked to cover school functions throughout the year, as well as to be on the lookout for an interesting photo that could pop up during their free moments.

The new group is the Youth for Environmental Action (YEA). This organization is not confined to Roosevelt, but is city-wide, including ten schools from Greater Des Moines. There are 15 active members among the 48 who signed up, reports member Hank Adams.

YEA was formed in January and has since worked on projects such as providing man-power for the Coke recycling operation and supporting the establishment of bike-paths. The group opposes economic growth at the expense of the environment, and urges the study of environmental education in addition to regular economics. YEA organized the march against the Alaska pipeline, May 20 at Greenwood Park.

Horses and folk songs were among the many things capturing the interest of Roosevelt students during the 1971-72 school year.

The major project for the Equestrian Club was the "Equestrian Escapades", April 30 at the Raccoon Valley Horse Center. Nineteen classes were set up, and the club made a profit of over $700 from entry fees. The bulk of the money will be used to help make next year's show successful, although some may be used for subscriptions of horse-oriented magazines for the library. Club Vice-president Julie Fellers commented, "It was a lot of hard work, but we thought it was fun."

Folk Music Club diminished in attendance this year, often meeting with only three or four people. In contrast with the more structured group of the year before, the club was extremely informal in its Wednesday afternoon gatherings, which consisted of a few hours of folk-singing with guitars.

Underclass

An annual is not only a reminder of things past,
it is a promise of things to come.
It tells you where you were,
but only you can tell
where you are going.
Today is the first day in the rest of your life-- join with others to make it joyous.

As cheerleaders leap into the air, juniors and sophomores participate in the Roosevelt spirit.

Sports

The Roosevelt Roundup staff sincerely appreciates The Des Moines Register and Tribune Company's help in reproducing photographs for this section.

Riders streak to 6-0 mark

On August 20th, varsity football coach Don Prior, entering his 15th year at Roosevelt, began workouts with 60 individuals.

Two months later, October 20th to be exact, was the eve of one of his and Roosevelt's greatest games since the foundation was laid in 1922.

For Prior, whose record of 121 victories against 37 losses and 15 ties speaks for itself, had transformed those 60 individuals into a team that was ranked fourth in the state. Tomorrow, that team would face top-ranked Dowling, unbeaten in 44 games.

On September 10th the young Riders and their followers trekked down the Interstate to Newton for the season's opener.

The Cardinals took the opening kickoff and drove for a touchdown and a 6-0 lead.

Dick McDonald promptly erased that with three touchdowns, coming on runs of 49, 31, and 26 yards in the second quarter. When the dust had settled the Riders had a 34-12 victory.

One week later, the Riders faced

No. seven ranked Lincoln. A tumultuous pep assembly not only returned the previously nonexistent Oding spirit to Roosevelt but sent it soaring to a peak it had rarely ever reached.

Lincoln owned an 8-6 half-time advantage, the Rider TD coming on an eightyyard run by quarterback Doug Reichardt.

Dick McDonald grabbed the second-half kickoff and raced 86 untouched yards to score, and, moments later, took a punt 72-yards for a TD.

The final score showed Roosevelt on top, 26-14.

Roosevelt's rampaging Roughriders were now unstoppable. On September 24 they rolled over west-side rival Hoover, 29-14, as J. R. Fredericks burst into the limelight by scoring three times from within the 10-yard line. "Big Mac" added a 12-yard TD.

On October 1 the Riders trounced North, 43-8.

Dick McDonald scored three times while seniors Joe Coppola, Jerry Mitchell, and John Hemminger added one apiece.

Quarterback Doug Reichardt searches for a receiver while rolling out against North.

Below: Junior Max Olson commences to lower the boom on and East back during the 36-19 Homecoming victory.

Halfback John Hemminger displays fancy footwork en route to a touchdown in Roosevelt's 43-8 romp over North.

The next weekend, against winless Tech, Roosevelt's defense recorded their first shutout, 33-0. J. R. Fredericks scored three times. Dick McDonald and Kirby Jones once each. The loss was Tech's 43rd straight.

A pep assembly, in which Sheri DiPaglia was crowned homecoming queen, set the adrenaline flowing for the showdown with cross-river East.

McDonald and Fredericks each scored twice. John Hemminger set up one TD with a 57 yard run from scrimmage and scored from 13-yards out. The final score showed Roosevelt with a 36-19 victory.

More importantly, the Riders were now undefeated in six games. Coach Prior and hard-working assistants Garland Siebert, Ron Adcock, and Dick Hewins, molded 60 individuals into a team ranked fourth in the state.

Now came the climactic showdown with Dowling, the proud defending Metropolitan Conference Champions. The Irish were 6-0 on the year and undefeated in 44 games.

While Valley yet remained on the schedule, this would be the culmination of two months of sweat. The spirit of the Great Roughrider bubbled over for the battle with the No. one ranked Irish.

Two losses end season

The contest proved to be every bit as exciting as it was billed to be. More than 14,000 fans swamped East's Duke Williams stadium to view the spectacle.

Dowling received the opening kickoff and promptly drove 77 yards to score. It was a typical beginning for the Riders, who trailed at the half in almost every game. None the less, it was a shaky start and gave the appearance of a rout.

Thereafter, the Roosevelt defense stiffened and the half ended with the score Dowling 6, Roosevelt 0.

Dick McDonald fielded the low, line-drive kick that opened the second-half at his own 20. He raced up the middle to the Dowling 45-yard stripe where he was tripped up. One more block and it would have been clear sailing.

Roosevelt's offense was completely stymied on the ground. Backs McDonald and Fredericks were held to 39 yards between them. Dowling's monstrous defensive line proved virtually immovable, as was the ball for the Riders.

It was one single breakdown by the Rider defense that put the Irish in command.

It came with sudden quickness in the waning seconds of the third quarter.

Disappointed, Coach Don Prior paces the sidelines in the waning minutes of the loss to Dowling. A hopeful Al Comito looks on.

Dowling's Terry Rivera swept around right end and sprinted untouched for a 75-yard touchdown. A two-point conversion made the score 14-0.

Roosevelt went to the air to get the offense moving.

Quarterback Doug Reichardt, who completed an impressive 13 of 29 passes, hit McDonald for a 22-yard gain to the Irish 19.

On the next play, Reichardt hit John Hemminger at the 10. Fredericks bulled his way across for the first down.

With first and goal at the nine, the Irish displayed their superiority. Fredericks was stopped at the line of scrimmage. A pass over the middle to McDonald went for a scant two yards. Reichardt then fired a bullet into the end-zone that was just off Mike Frito's fingertips.

An incomplete pass into the end zone ended the game, and for all pretenses, ended the season. The Riders were upset in the season's finale by Valley, 12-7.

However, in retrospect, the loss to Dowling didn't end the season.

The 1971 varsity football team revived the spirit at TRHS and was the glorious beginning to a new decade.

Joe Coppola, a second team all-state choice, hustles up from his safety spot to nail Maroon quarterback Mark Williams.

While dropping back from pressure from Dowling's huge defensive line, quarterback Doug Reichardt fires one of his 13 completions in 29 tries to Brad Worman. Rider lineman provided excellent protection in 14-0 loss to the Maroons.

Dowling's Dennis Cummings halts Roughrider Dick McDonald for scant gain in 14-0 Rider loss.

McDonald, the Metro's third leading scorer, was held to six yards in 11 attempts.

A fallen J. R. Fredericks and Scott Rosenberg provide Doug Reichardt with the necessary time to release a pass against Dowling.

Roosevelt's safety, Kirby Jones, wins the "battle of the Joneses" as he meets head-on with East's Doug Jones. Steaming in to assist are Bill Schweker (75) and Carl Nelson (68).

Mini-back J. R. Fredericks, fourth in the Metropolitan Conference scoring race, breaks into the open field in a 29-14 victory over Hoover.

Eight members of Roosevelt's 6-2 club that tied Lincoln for second place in the Metropolitan Conference received post-season accolades.

Joe Coppola was named first-team all-Metro at safety for the second consecutive year. He was also named second-team all-state at end.

Dick McDonald, who averaged 7.7 yards-per-carry, was also named first-team all-Metro, as were Carl Nelson and Jim Monachino. Doug Reichardt, J. R. Fredericks, Dave Burford, and Jerry Mitchell were named to the second squad.

Sophs finish with 5-3 mark

Roosevelt's 1971 sophomore team finished with an excellent conference record of 5-2, to take sole possession of third place in the Metro.

In their first competition with non-conference foe Ankeny, the Little Riders dropped a 28-14 decision after holding a slender 2-0 margin at half-time.

Coached by Tom Reed and Bob Peterson, they hosted Lincoln in their Metro opener. The Little Riders jumped to a 14-0 lead on a 67-yard scoring pass play from John Evans to Kevin Loyet. Rick Wilson scored the second touchdown on a one-yard run.

The tough Railsplitters overcame the deficit and roared back in the second half to take a 30-14 victory.

The sophs then ventured to Hoover's field, where they defeated the Huskies, 14-6.

Down 6-0 in the third quarter, Loyet bulled his way across from the two-yard line. With a minute left in the contest, Loyet scored from the 17 and added the extra two points to bring the Riders their first victory.

They then traveled to North to whip the Polar Bears, 14-0.

The Little Riders defense then recorded their first shutout by trouncing dormant Tech, 32-0. A 25-yard pass to stand out receiver Jeff Edwards got Roosevelt rolling against the Engineers.

Loyet, Wilson, Mark Sloan, and Terry Butts each added a touchdown.

Loyet scored both Rider touchdowns, coming on runs of 5 and 2 yards, to edge East, 16-14.

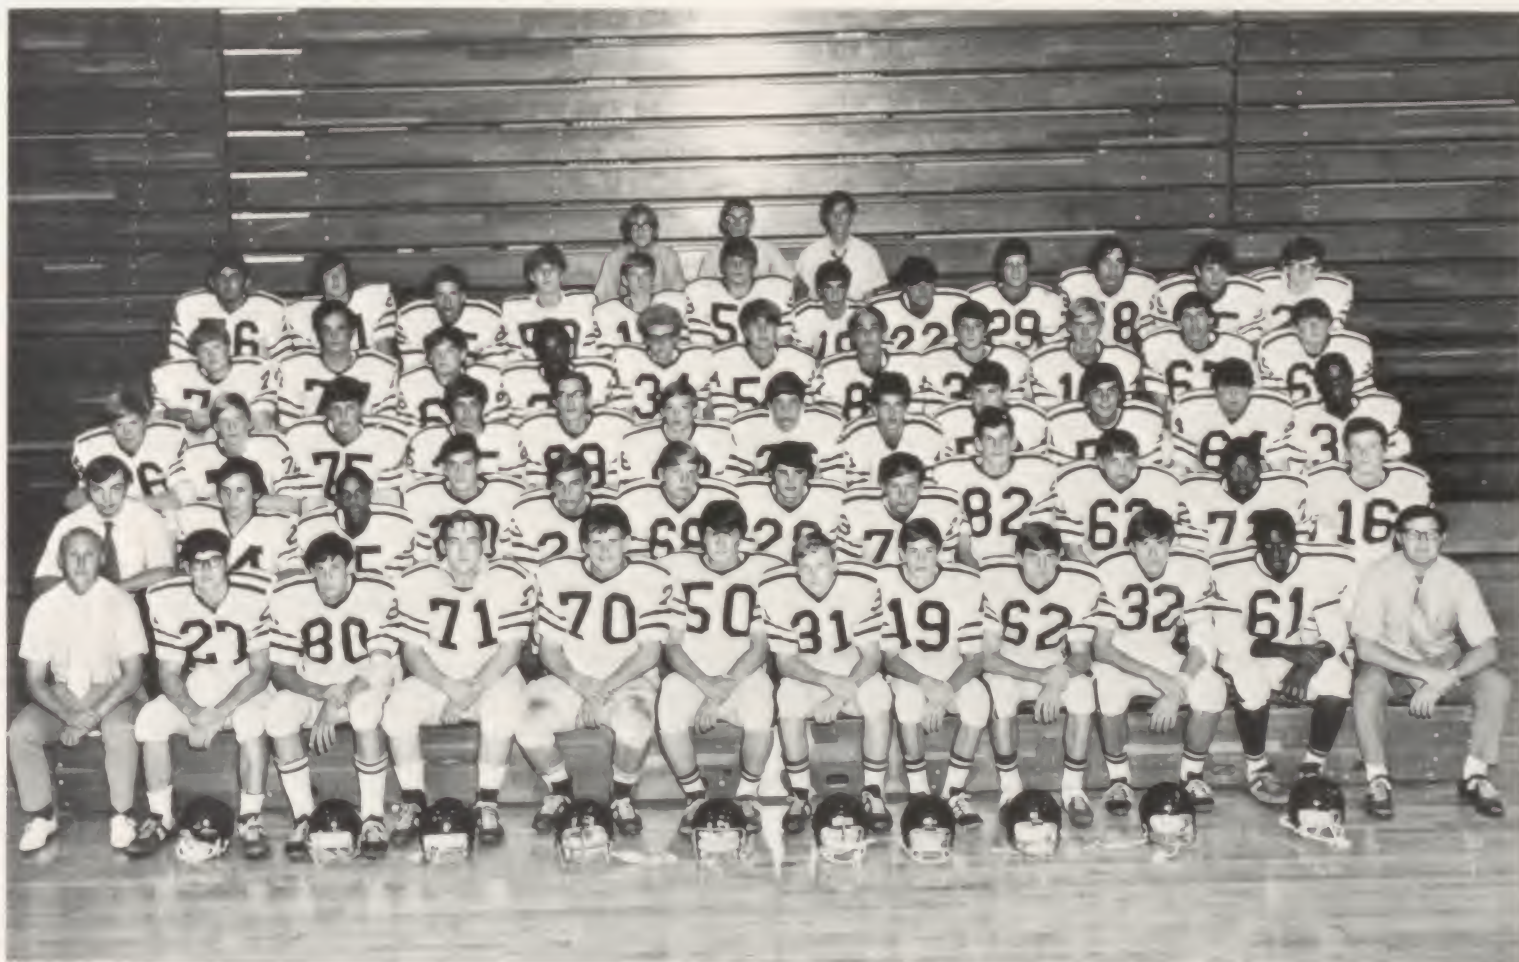

Dowling's always-tough sophs shut-out the Little Riders, 28-0, their second conference defeat.

The Little Riders copped third place in the conference with a 14-7 victory over Valley in the season's finale.

The sophs trailed 7-0 in the third quarter until stalwart end Jeff Edwards took an eight-yard pass from quarterback John Evans. Kevin Loyet then scored to give the Riders victory.

The sophs gained valuable experience under the tutelage of former Rider stars Reed and Peterson, and should be a boost to coach Don Prior's varsity next fall.

Hoffert, Davidson boost harriers to 4-3 Metro season

Led by seniors Tim Hoffert and Brian Davidson, Roosevelt's 1971 Cross Country team recorded a 4-3 Metropolitan Conference record and finished 13th in the state meet at Marshalltown.

Roosevelt's victories came over East, North, Tech and Valley. The three losses were at the hands of Dowling, Lincoln, and Hoover,

In the conference meet, the Riders placed fourth, behind Dowling, Lincoln, and Hoover, with 72 points.

Davidson recorded first place finishes in Rider victories over East and Tech. Hoffert took firsts against Valley and North, also Rider victories.

Seniors Bill Peterson, Craig Mossman, and Larry Denman were a tremendous help to Coach Granville Welch, in his second year at Roosevelt, as were junior standouts Mike Hurst and Richard Barnes.

Riders tie for Metro Crown

Roosevelt, under the tutelage of coach Al Comito, recorded an 11-3 league mark, went 15-7 over-all, and tied Lincoln for the Metropolitan Conference Championship.

In completing his 35th year of high school coaching, Comito upped his lifetime record to 489 victories against 225 defeats. His record at Roosevelt stands at 365-143, and his Roughrider clubs have won or shared 17 Metropolitan crowns in 24 years.

Fittingly, Coach Comito was inducted into the Iowa High School Athletic Association's Hall of Fame during half-time ceremonies of the 1972 State Class AA championship game.

Denny Sears poured the season off with a bang as he poured in 37 points, the highest in the conference all year, as the Riders won their season opener with Urbandale, 83-52, on November 19.

A week later, Ottumwa came to the capitol city and nearly blew the Riders off their own court, 94-64.

On December 3, Roosevelt began conference action by downing Lincoln, 70-52, behind Joe Coppola's 22 points.

The following night, against top-ranked Ames, the Riders took a 39-29 half-time edge before succumbing, 72-57.

On December 10, Maxie Olson dropped in two free throws in the final minute to give Roosevelt their first victory over Hoover in three years, 43-41.

A week later, North stunned the Riders, 60-56 as Sears was limited to two points before fouling out.

On December 29, high-flying Tech invaded the Roosevelt gym and exited with an 81-70 victory over the Riders. Brad Worman, injured earlier in the year, scored 17 points as Roosevelt whipped East, 62-52, on January 7.

Worman scored 21 points to lead the Riders past Dowling, 74-64, on January 14. Joe Coppola added 20.

Coppola scored a career high 26 points against Valley, as Roosevelt won, 75-56.

Worman's 25 points went for naught as Lincoln halted the Riders three-game skein, 87-76, at the Railsplitter gym.

Roosevelt began a six-game winning streak on January 28, drubbing Hoover, 72-50, behind Coppola's 20 point effort. Sears added 15, Jerry Mitchell 13.

The scoreboard tells the story as Brad Worman hits a jumper over North's Dallas Smith. The Riders won, 88-75.

Joe Coppola goes up and over North's 6-foot-7 center Dallas Smith for a layup in district action at Veterans Memorial Auditorium. Roosevelt ended the Polar Bears' season, 67-58.

Jerry Mitchell puts up a one-hand jump shot in Roosevelt's tight 43-41 victory over Hoover.

Cagers edged in sub-state final

Doug Peterson playing in his third game since becoming eligible at the semester break, helped the Riders gain revenge against North, hitting 12 of 12 free throw attempts and scoring 16 points as the Riders rolled, 88-75.

Roosevelt then trekked to No. six rated Tech and Peterson's 22 points, along with Sears' 19, and 17 apiece from Coppola and Worman provided a 79-74 victory.

East fell by the wayside on February 11 as Sears hit for 22 points, and the Riders won, 64-48.

Dowling took the steamrolling Riders to the limit before six Sears buckets in the final quarter bought an 82-79 win.

On February 25, the Riders whipped Valley, 81-64, in a game that saw all starters in double figures.

Cappola led with 17, Sears had 15, Peterson 14, Mitchell 13, and Worman 10.

Roosevelt then hit the road for the final regular season contest at Marshalltown.

The No. two ranked Bobcats proved too much for the Riders as they won handily, 94-75.

Now it was tourney time for the co-champs.

The Riders front line of Sears (22 points), Worm (21), and Coppola (21), scored all but three of Roosevelt's total as they whipped North, 67-58, in first round district play on February 29, at Veterans Memorial Auditorum.

Two nights later, the Riders met Lincoln in an unofficial rematch of the co-champions at Vets.

Roosevelt parlayed eight points by Sears into a 21-11 first period lead.

Lincoln's Jim Thorup then erupted for 16 second-quarter points and the Riders held a slender 33-32 halftime edge.

The Railsplitters held a 49-48 lead after three periods until four free throws apiece by Coppola and Peterson settled the contest, 64-60.

Worman, who limited Thorup to seven points in the deciding half, and Sears led the Riders with 17 points each.

Roosevelt came back from a 10 point deficit in the third period to post their third victory over rival Hoover, 62-59, in sub-state action March 4 at Vets.

Crucial free throws by Sears and 21 points from Coppola trust the Riders into their sub-state showdown with Marshalltown.

Virtually the entire RHS student body converged on Vets Auditorum on March 6 to see the Riders make their bid for a seat in the state tournament.

Roosevelt played even with the No. two ranked Bobcats throughout the first period and trailed 25-22 after the quarter ended.

Marshalltown led, 32-30 with five minutes left in the half when the tall and talented Bobcats jumped to a 42-36 halftime edge.

After four minutes into the second half, Marshalltown led 57-42. The Riders upset hopes seemed doomed until nine points from Peterson, seven from Sears, and a Coppola bucket cut the deficit to 75-70 with three minutes left in the game.

Marshalltown then took a commanding 84-72 lead, and the eventual runners-up to the state title won, 88-75.

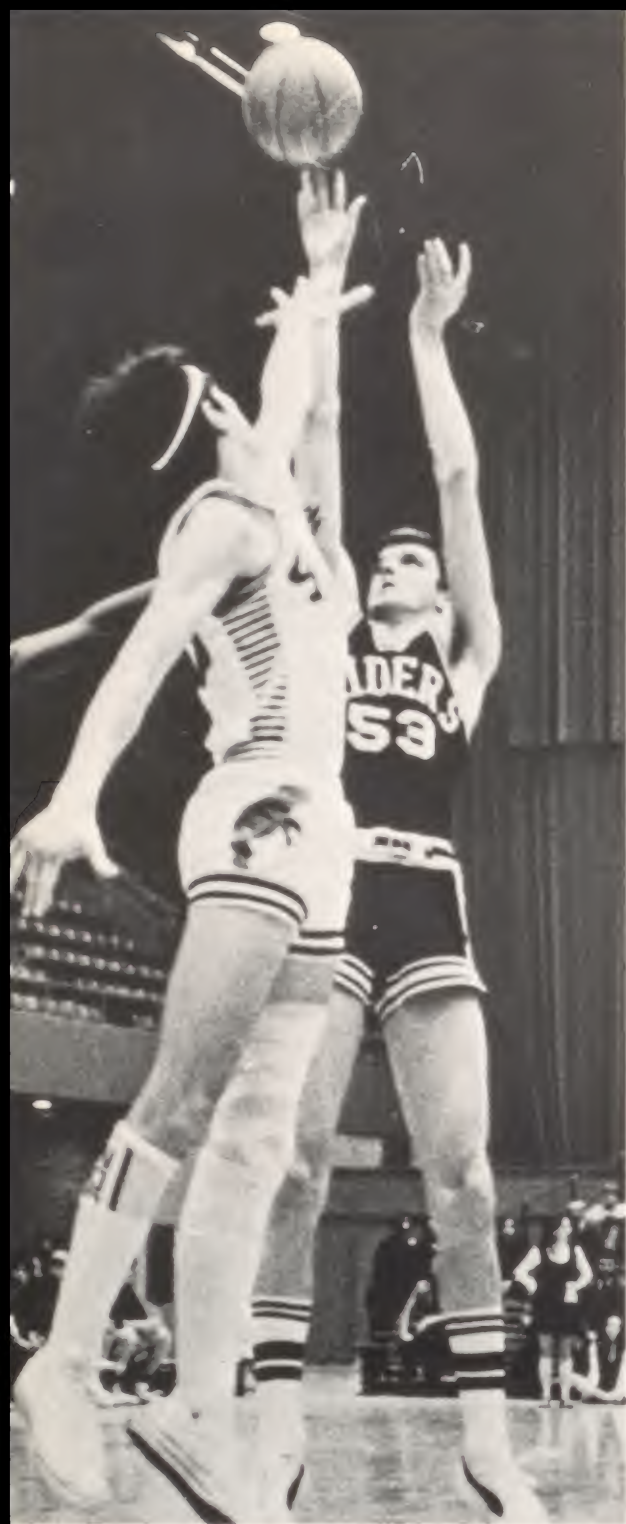

Sears finished with 20 points, Peterson 16, Worman 13, Coppola and Mitchell 10.

For the second straight year Sears was named first team all-Metro. Sears scored 364 points and has a 726 two-year total.

Coppola received second-team honors.

Doug "Pistol Pete" Peterson weaves through the lane and leaves Valley players dumb founded.

Sophs finish 5-8 in Metro

Although the sophomores compiled a losing season, finishing with a 5-8 metropolitan conference record, and 7-11 over all, they gained valuable experience under Head Coach Ron Adcock.

In conference action, they took two from Tech, 58-43, and 61-59; split with North, losing 77-60, and winning 54-38; split with Dowling, losing 53-47, and winning 66-59 behind Jeff Edwards' 27 points; split with Valley, losing 60-46, and winning 64-57 on 17 points from Craig Schroeder; lost two to Hoover, 51-39, and 66-50; and were beaten by Lincoln twice, 62-37 and 65-50.

The Little Riders won their first two games, both against non-conference opponents. Jeff Edwards scored 15 points and Tim Duncan 13 as the sophomores took their opener against Urbandale, 54-43.

Craig Schroeder hit 16 points and Eric Lemke 15, leading the sophomores past Ottumwa, 57-50. The Little Riders wasted Schroeder's 20 point effort against Ames, losing 66-53.

Lemke was the only sophomore in double figures, hitting 13, in the 89-52 loss to Marshalltown.

Poor season for cindermen

Roosevelt's 1972 track season wasn't too gratifying from a team standpoint, only fulfilling for a few certain individual performers.

Senior sprinter Doug Hutchison owned the Metropolitan conference's fastest time in the open 440-yard dash until the conference meet. There he was beaten by East's sophomore sensation Slick Jones by one-tenth second. Hutchison ran a 51.3 second quarter-mile, Jones was clocked in 51.2.

Hutchison was second at the district meet and won the Ames invitational.

Sophomore Mike Bloomburg won the long and high jumps helping the Riders defeat North in a dual meet, 77-61. Bloomburg tied for third with teammate Dave Durden in the conference high-jump and was third in the district and at Ames.

In a triangular meet with Tech winning with 99½ points to Roosevelt's 47 and Valley's 33½, the two-mile relay unit of Mike Hurst, Gary Denman, Jim Noyce, and Tony Finnerty finished first. The same group was fifth in the conference meet at Drake stadium.

The Riders finished last in a triangular with Lincoln and East, but Hutchinson won the 440-yard dash, Finnerty the 880-yard run in a two minute four second clocking, and junior Ray Hays heaved the shot put 46 feet two-inches to take first place.

In the Valley Relays, the medley relay team consisting of Ralph McCrea, Hutchison, Jim Noyce, and Finnerty, took first. Hutchison was again second in the 440-yard dash. Finnerty was third in the conference 880-yard dash, and the mile and two-mile teams finished fifth.

Roosevelt was third at the Ames Invitational behind Ames (133½), and Lincoln (105), Roosevelt finished last at the Bobcat Relays, with Hutchison again second in the 440.

Coaches Garland Seibert, Granville Welch, and Dick Hewins worked diligently with this year's team and with stand-outs Bloomburg and Hays returning, plus several others, the overall future promises to be much brighter.

Tankers 3rd in State Meet

For the third consecutive year, Roosevelt had an individual champion in the state swimming meet at Ames. In 1970, Mark Johnson won the diving competition to help the Riders finish fourth. Steve Davis took the 100-yard breast stroke the following year as Roosevelt finished seventh.

In keeping with the tradition, through hard work and determination, Rick Adrianse was crowned the 400-yard free style champion. His time of 3 minutes 58.2 seconds established a new Roosevelt mark, and was the second fastest ever in the state.

What makes this even more astounding is the fact that until this year he had never competed in the event before.

Roosevelt's fourth place finish in the state meet avenged losses to Hoover in dual, metro, and district meets.

The Riders swept their first eight meets, six of them against metro competition, before invading the Huskies' pool. Hoover, who finished fifth behind Roosevelt in the state meet, was undefeated at 7-0 in the Metro.

Hoover won the first event, the 200-yard medley relay, by one-tenth second. Sophomore sensation Randy Jones was edged in the 50-yard free style by one-tenth second.

But Randy Ates' disqualification from a third-place finish in the 100-yard back stroke proved to be the final blow.

The final score, though seemingly insignificant, was Hoover 48, Roosevelt 47.

Doug Campbell, a ninth place finisher in the state meet at Ames as a sophomore, displays point-winning form en route to a third place finish this year.

Not since February 4, 1949, when North dealt the defending state champions a 46-29 setback, had the Riders been beaten in dual meet competition. The Riders had won 157 straight duals in the 23-year unbeaten string.

Hoover won its second straight conference meet, amassing 109 points to Roosevelt's 84. Jones, the meet's only double winner, and Adrianse both set Metro records.

Jones came in the 200-yard individual medley with a time of 2 minutes 10.3 seconds. Adrianse's 400-yard free style mark of 4:02.0 was set in preliminaries.

Doug Campbell rolled up 438.70 points to win the diving.

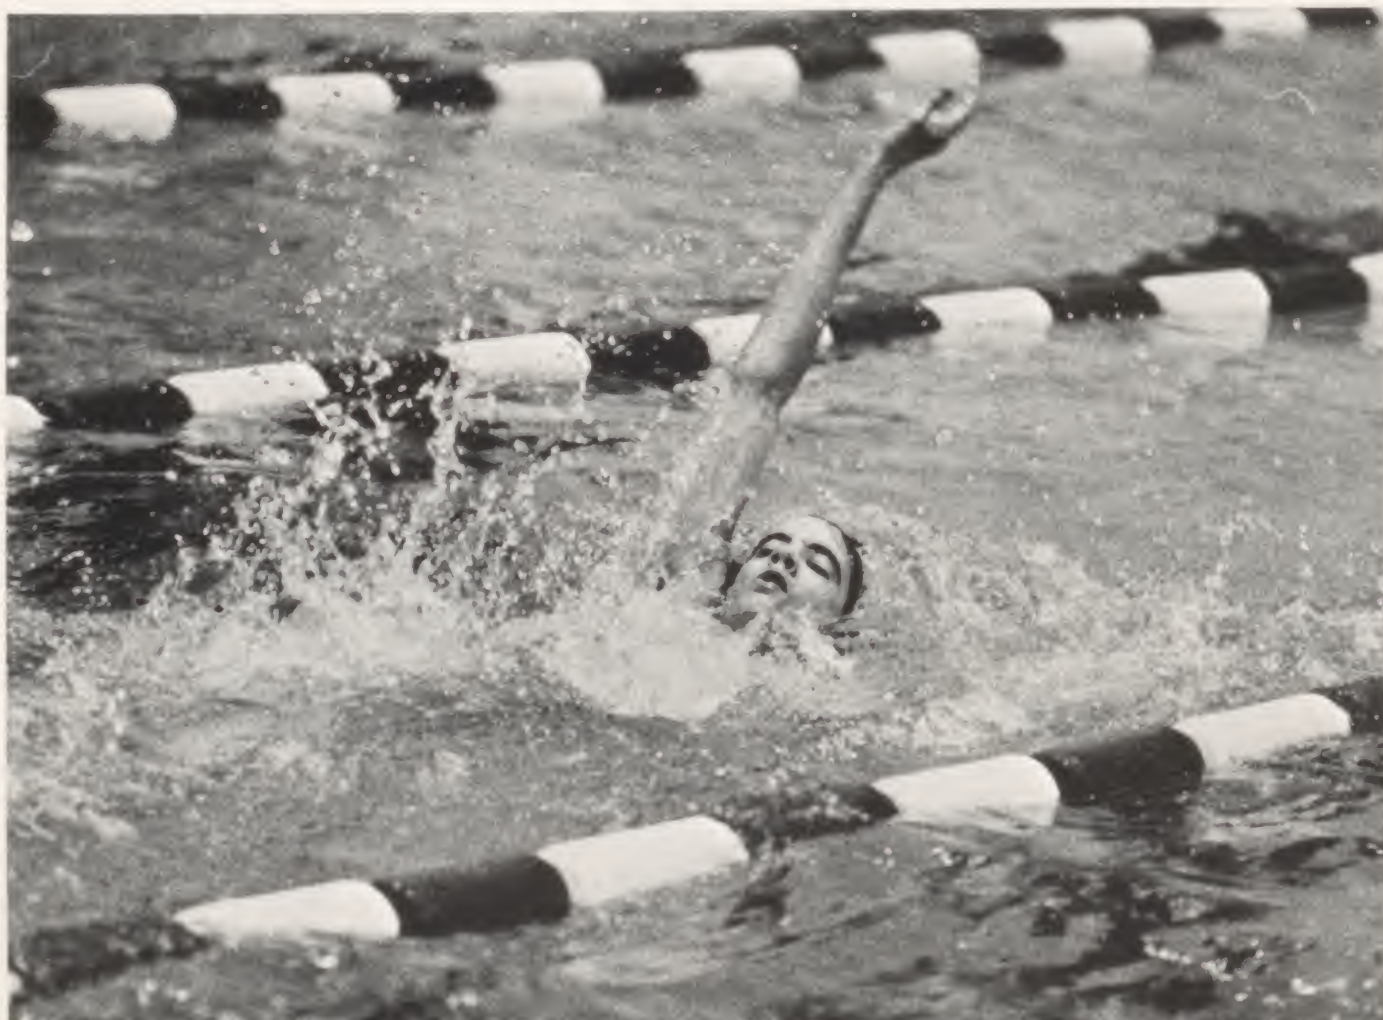

A week later, although winning six of 11 events, Roosevelt fell short again in district competition. Hoover totaled 264 points to the Riders' 248.

The 400-yard relay team of Adrianse, Jones, John Eller, and Jim Crispin, owners of the RHS pool record of 3:26.6, set a district mark of 3:29.8. Adrianse also swam the fastest 400 free of the year, 4:01.6, in setting another record.

Jones won the 200 IM, and the 100 free style. Doug Campbell totaled 427.35 points to take the diving.

Coach Tom Reed then began preparations for the state meet in Ames.

Sophomore Randy Jones, who finished third in the state meet, swims the back stroke in the 200-yard individual medley.

Perennial state power Washington of Cedar Rapids easily outdistanced the field, racking up 183 points to second-place Ames' 151. West Davenport took third with 126, barely edging Roosevelt's 117 total.

The Riders' 200-yard medley relay team of Dave Krause, Ward Klein, Chuck Becker, and John Eller finished sixth in the finals. Adrianse came in fifth in the 200 free style and sophomore Randy Jones took third in the 200 individual medley.

Eller finished sixth in consolation of the 50 free style. Junior Doug Campbell, who finished ninth as a sophomore, won third place in diving competition. Jones took first in consolation of the 100 free style.

Adrianse's 400-yard free style time of 3:58.23 battered West Davenport's Brent Myers' 3:59.00 clocking. Sophomore Dave Harvey took fifth in the event.

Krause was sixth in consolation of the 100 back stroke, Junior Ward Klein finished sixth in the 100 breast stroke, Paul Conley sixth in consolation.

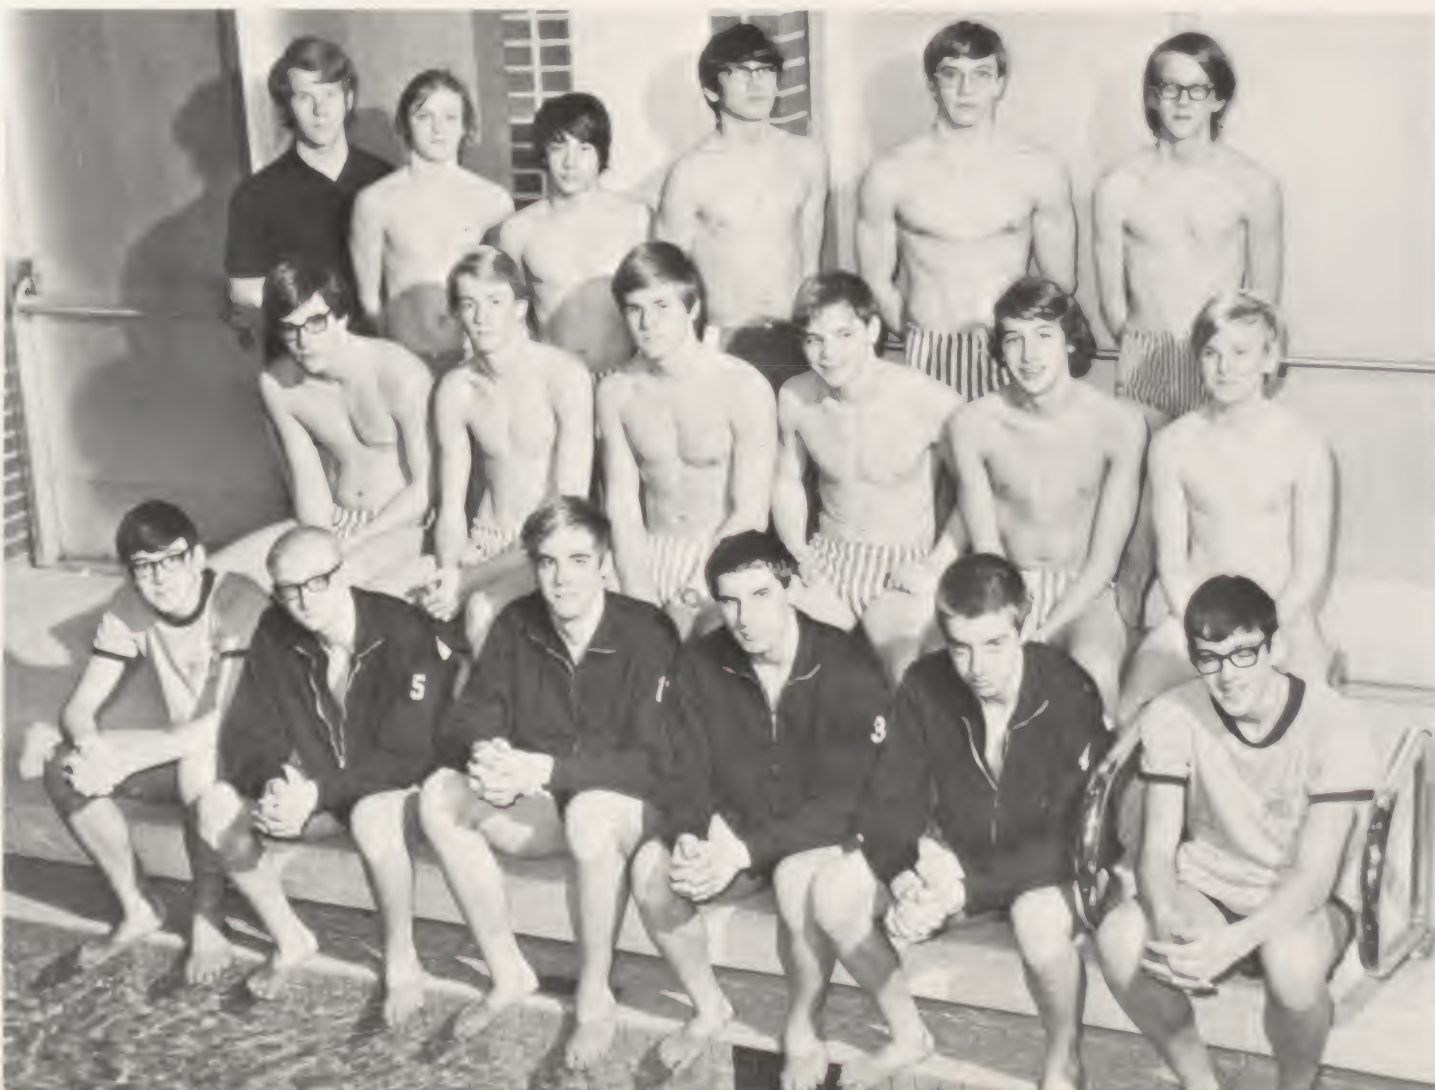

The record setting 400-yard relay team of Adrianse, Eller, Jones, and Jim Crispin finished fifth.

These excellent performances by the Rider tankers made the 1972 state meet a very gratifying one indeed.

Girls capture sixth in state

Becky Settlemyer and Kathy Jones battle neck and neck for a 1-2 finish.

The girls swimmers finished their sixth season ranking fourth in the Metro conference and sixth in the state. Coached by Mrs. Nora Smith, and with the help of Mrs. Eula Cole, the girls won five meets, while losing only three in the city league.

Outstanding swimmers were sophomores Becky Settlemyer, who placed sixth in the 100 yard back stroke and fourth in the 200 yard individual medley; and Patty Schropp, who came in third in the 50 yard free style. Patty broke the old district record with a time of 27:25 seconds. Both of the girls' accomplishments were in the state meet at North High School.

Other girls who placed in the top six were Janet Willoughby, fifth in the 50 yard free style; and Kathy Jones, who placed sixth in the 100 yard butterfly. Ellen Cosson, Cathy O'Brien, and Kim Carpenter participated in the consolation races.

The team started off the season by defeating Tech a score of 80-15. The Riders won first place in all 11 events. The next meet proved to be less successful when they lost to Valley. Roosevelt splashed over Southeast Polk and North, both 82-13. After being soundly beaten by Hoover, the girls took first place in the Southeast Polk invitational.

Grapplers 4-10 for season

Roosevelt's wrestling team suffered a poor season, notching a 4-10 overall record and placing sixth in the Metropolitan conference race.

Strong performers for the Rider grapplers were 98-pounder Dave Settles, 126-pound Dan Downey, and 185-pound Dave Burford.

Settles finished third in the Metro, third at the Urbandale invitational, and third in the sectional tournament. Settles' overall record was 15 wins against 8 losses and 1 tie.

Downey took third at Urbandale, second in the sectional, and recorded a 14-7-9 season. Burford, who sometimes was forced to wrestle at heavyweight, took first at the Creston invitational, second in the sectional, and finished 16-9-0 for the season.

The Riders hosted cross-town powerhouse Urbandale in the opening meet of the season and were dealt a 45-3 loss. Senior Paul Hogan scored the only points on a decision. Burford pinned his opponent in the next meet, but Lincoln emerged victorious, 35-14.

Downey racked up his first pin of the season in a losing cause to Indianola, 29-71.

The Riders then won their first meet of the season against East, 37-12, in which Settles recorded a pin in 28 seconds, his first of the season. Sophomore Mike Burford, wrestling at 145, also scored a fall.

In losing to Dowling, 39-12, the Riders got their points on decisions by Scott Lounsberry and Dave Burford, and Steve Dubansky's pin.

Burford notched another pin in a loss to Johnston, 37-12. Though Burford pinned his opponent again and Downey also scored a fall, Tech beat the Riders, 32-18.

Taking the first three weights by forfeit, the grapplers won their second meet beating North, 42-15.

Burford then suffered his only pin of the season as Hoover whipped the hapless Riders, 28-17.

Lounsberry, Burford, and Dubansky all won on pins as Roosevelt won their third match, 35-11 over Kuemper of Carroll.

Settles, Downey, and Burford scored the only points against Valley, losing, 43-9.

Gymnasts take state title

Roosevelt's girls, gymnastics team, in their first year of official existence, successfully defended the state championship, which they had shared with Ames.

Led by double-winners Margie Hudelson and Diane Sargent, the Rider girls racked up 88 points in the state meet March 9 at Veterans Memorial Auditorium.

Miss Hudelson took first place finishes in the tumbling and trampoline. Miss Sargent, a sophomore, finished first in the floor exercise and vaulting competition. Jill Carey was a surprise second in the all-around. Karen Jepsen was third in the trampoline event.

Coached by Earle Duggan, the team was undefeated in dual meets, and totaled an astonishing 100 points in the district competition at Jefferson.

Miss Sargent finished the season with 14 first-place finishes, Miss Carey 11, Miss Hudelson 10, Miss Jepsen one, and senior Shela Codner, one.

Other team members were juniors Becky Davis, Lynn Roxberg, Linda Roxberg, Linda Jacobson, Lynn Randolph, sophomores Mary Eddy and Anne Gibbs, and senior Anne Leiserowitz.

Roosevelt golfers second in district

Led by senior captains Joe Engman and Mark Sidney, Roosevelt's 1972 boy's golf team finished the season with a 5-3 overall record and 4-3 Metropolitan conference mark for a tie for fourth in league play.

The Riders took champion Lincoln to the hilt, losing 159-157, with the always consistent Engman and Dan Spencer notching 38's. The Railsplitters countered with 37's by Jerry Webb and Scott Hawkins.

Roosevelt beat west-side rival Hoover, 157-158, on Engman's 37 and Sidney's 38.

With Paul McGarvey hitting a 36, and Brad Worman a 38, the Riders whipped Tech, 155-179. The team's overall play was inconsistent and varied. They lost to second-place Dowling, 171-150.

Roosevelt traveled to Nevada and won, 159-163, behind Spencer's 37. They beat Newton, 160-165; whipped East, 150-155; and stopped Boone, 166-193. They lost to Valley, 173-153.

In the district, the Riders finished second to Lincoln, 322-206. Sidney had a 78, Engman an 80, Jim Blackburn an 81, Spencer an 83, and Corky Rood an 83.

Girl's team third in conference

Excellent play from junior Jamie Bonta, along with senior co-captains Sheri DiPaglia and Marci Pomerantz enabled the 1972 girls' golf team to grab third place in the hectic Metropolitan conference title chase with a 5-3 record.

Bonta's seven-hole total of 31 strokes provided the impetus for the Riders' 135-138 victory over Hoover. Roosevelt beat North, 137-189, then lost to St. Joseph's, 150-141, Bonta shot a 32 and Nancy Nicholas a 34 in the Riders 146-158 victory over Lincoln.

Valley whipped the Riders, 147-164, although Bonta shot a 36. Roosevelt beat East, 157-193, for their fifth win. The Rider girls also took third in the sectional.

Senior Sara Mark, juniors Trish Sammon, and Natalie Forbes, and sophomore Diane Fredericks rounded out the squad.

Netmen take metro title

Roosevelt's 1972 boys' tennis team closed the season with a perfect 10-0 record in dual meet action, 7-0 in the league, and won the Metropolitan conference crown.

Max Spilka was undefeated during the regular season playing the No. 1 singles. Spilka lost to Mark Morrow of North, 6-0, 9-7, in district action, but advanced to the state meet in Ames.

Steve Procter and Dan Fischer, the No. 1 doubles combination, were undefeated at 18-0, this year, and won the district title. They also went to Ames to compete.

The Riders skunked Lincoln, East, North, Tech, and Newton by a score of 9-0.

They lost only three sets the entire year, one each to Ames, Dowling, and Valley.

Fischer and Procter were also undefeated in singles, as was Joe Dorzweiler. Doug Reichardt lost only in district action.

Sophomores Chuck Hemminger and Phil Bear, junior John Hayes, and J.R. Fredericks, the club's only senior, made up the remainder of the title team.

Coach Bob Anderson had the rare distinction of coaching two championship clubs in one year, and taking members of both to the state meet.

The 1972 girls' tennis team finished the regular season unbeaten with a 9-0 record, won the Metropolitan Conference title, and took the district singles and doubles championships.

Junior Carol Bolton was undefeated throughout the year playing the No. 1 singles, won the district title, and advanced to the state meet at Bettendorf.

The doubles duo of Cathy O'Brien and Leslie Gerdes was also undefeated during the season and took the district event by beating Valley's Cathy Fidler-Mindy Vaudelune team, 6-4, 2-6, 6-2.

O'Brien played the No. 2 singles, with Gerdes and Captain Levine, third and fourth, respectively.

The girls began the year beating Newton, 7-1. The Riders then beat Tech and Ankeny, 9-0, while losing only one match to North, East, Hoover, and St. Joseph's.

The matches with Lincoln and Valley were close, with the Riders winning 5-4 in each.

1971 baseball team ties East for conference crown

Paced by Fred Young, Coach Ron Adcock's 1971 varsity baseball team tied with East for the Metropolitan Conference Championship with an 11-3 record.

Young, named to the Central All-District first team at shortstop and first-team all-Metro as a pitcher, compiled a 7-1 record on the mound.

Valley, who beat Roosevelt 2-0 in the final conference game, which cost the Riders the outright crown, was the only team to beat Young.

The loss came in sectional play, two days after Young had hurled a no-hitter against East, striking out 11 Scarlet batsmen.

Captain Bob McCartney was the leading Rider hitter, batting .448. First baseman John Johnston batted .461 in four games until he was sidelined with a broken leg.

Named to the second all-Metro team were outfielder Skip Holton, who batted .328, and Jerry Mitchell, who batted .324 and led the squad in home runs with three.

Jerry Nelson finished with a 6-5 pitching record and batted an even .300.

Advertising

And a merchant said, Speak to us of Buying and Selling.

And he answered and said:

To you the earth yields her fruit, and you shall not want if you but know how to fill your hands.

It is in exchanging the gifts of the earth that you shall find abundance and be satisfied.

Yet unless the exchange be in love and kindly justice, it will but lead some to greed and others to hunger.

When in the market place you toilers of the sea and fields and vineyards meet the weavers and the potters and the gatherers of spices,--

Invoke then the master spirit of the earth, to come into your midst and sanctify the scales and the reckoning that weighs value against value.

And suffer not the barren-handed to take part in your transactions, who would sell their words for your labour.

To such men you should say,

"Come with us to the field, or go with our brothers to the sea and cast your net;

For the land and the sea shall be bountiful to you even as to us."

And if there come the singers and the dancers and the flute players, buy of their gifts also.

For they too are gatherers of fruit and frankincense, and that which they bring, though fashioned of dreams, is raiment and food for your soul.

And before you leave the market place, see that no one has gone his way with empty hands.

For the master spirit of the earth shall not sleep peacefully upon the wind till the needs of the least of you are satisfied.

As part of Youngers firm belief in the young people of today, a program is offered each year for the Des Moines area schools...TEEN BOARD for junior and senior boys. These young people, selected to represent their schools, are chosen for leadership qualities, high scholastic standings, personal recommendations from school administrators and evaluation from members of the retiring boards, plus their interest and ability in retail and fashion. They participate in special fashion shows during the year, give talks in their schools and to other groups on good grooming, publish a monthly newsletter and work in various junior departments each Saturday. Youngers salutes the representatives from Roosevelt High School for a job very well done.

These are changing times, and change was evident at Roosevelt, for the year was a time of tearing down the old to replace it with the new. The opposition to student evaluation of teachers was sufficiently removed to allow a limited use of the program. The cafeteria and especially the Student Center became the scenes of heated Pitch games. New sources of money, such as Pancake Day in February, replaced the funds lost when the concession stand closed, and new uses were found for the money. Among the benefactors were the counselling center for air conditioning, the Chess team for their New York trip, and the newly organized Girls' Track Club. With a changed election law, 245 new voters were registered during the registration week held in the spring.

Next year's Roosevelt students will be able to use the new counselling center, constructed this year amid much noise and dust. A new band addition should also be completed by this fall.

Sophomore Coby Kuhn plans for her future as she fills out her Compatimatch forms with the assistance of Open House Committee co-chairmen Marc Sink and Jane Sullivan.

The 1971-72 school year at Roosevelt was also a year of building. More than the construction, amid noise and inconvenience, of new wings for counselling and for the band, it was a time of personal building for the future. At year's end, this feature was exemplified by the inauguration of Compatimatch, designed to help students meet others of similar interests. Through their schoolwork, students gained portions of the knowledge which they will need in future years. The tradition of victorious athletic teams was restored to Roosevelt. It was a year to build up new friendships, and build upon the old. The opportunities were there to pile up a multitude of experiences, for those who sought the chance. Interests were developed, and talents perfected. Perhaps most importantly, it was a year of building memories - a permanent memorial to Roosevelt, 1972.

For everything there is a season
 And a time for every matter under heaven:
 A time to be born, and a time to die;
 A time to plant,
 And a time to pluck up what is planted:
 A time to kill, and a time to heal;
 A time to break down, and a time to build up;
 A time to weep, and a time to laugh;
 A time to mourn, and a time to dance;
 A time to cast away stones,
 And a time to gather stones together;
 A time to embrace,
 And a time to refrain from embracing;
 A time to seek, and a time to lose;
 A time to keep, and a time to cast away;
 A time to rend, and a time to sew;
 A time to keep silence, and a time to speak;
 A time to love, and a time to hate;
 A time for war, and a time for peace.
 What gain has the worker from his toil?

Ecclesiastes 3:1-9
